TO NAME THE PLACE

For the Meeting of the Next Republican Convention.

HARRISON WANTS IT IN THE EAST, While the Whole West Is Shouting for Blaine.

THE CANDIDATES IN NEW YORK.

The Speakership Race Grows Warm, and the Forces Are Deploying Over the Grounds.

WASHINGTON, November 19 .- [Special.]-The convention boomers began to arrive this evening, when the Omaha delegation reached here.

The Nebraska people have their shirt sleeves relled up and tonight they are having it all their own way.

But when the Minneapolitans and Cincin natians and Pittsburgers and New Yorkers and Michiganders and the folks from Frisco arrive, the real war will commence. Although Chicago is not making much of a fight, a great many people believe that the prairie wonder will get the convention. The argument that Chicago is the only city that can easily accommodate the crowd is likely to carry great weight, but after all it seems that political considerations are likely to govern the national republican committee next Monday in the location for holding the convention. The committee is favorable to Blaine, and if the fight develops into anything like a Blaine-Harrison contest the latter will be badly worsted. The president has ex-pressed a preference for Cincinnati, but there are certain drawbacks about Cincinnati which give his friends reason to pause. The hostile stitude of The Commercial Gazette and its open preference for Blaine, makes the presi-dent scratch his head. Some of his advisers are also afraid of McKinley influences, and for this reason, if no other, the northwest will be

There are those also who have so little reverence for the methods of Ohio politics that they affect to be afraid of what they term an "Onio trick." They are not afraid of a failure of gas, such as occurred in 1876, when Blaine was euchred out of the nomination and Hayes was nominated. As one of them said to me tonight, "As long as Foraker is on hand know what minute he would turn the gas off." The Blaine men want the convention to go west. Chicago, Minneapolis or San Francisco ould suit them. The bid of San Francisco folks to give the delegaates free transportation to the Golden Gate is very tempting, and may be accepted. Pittsburg bases its principal claim upon the historic fact that it was the birthplace of the republican party. Some of the Pennsylvanians say, that the republican party needs to be born again, and they suggest that Pittsburg outranks all competitors as a birthplace. The Harrison partisans don't like Pittsburg, however, because it is a big Blaine town. Pittsburg republicans may be divided on some questions, but even Chris Magee said Senator Quay would join hands as to Blaine. In fact the Harrison folks experience a good deal of trouble in finding any place where Blaine sentiment does not predominate. The present skirmish for position in the great contest next spring will be watched with interest. The Speakership Fight. The speakership fight has, for the moment, been transferred to New York.

Today there is not a speakership candidate in town, though several of them have their representatives here.

Springer, Crisp and Mills are all in New

Mr. Crisp went over on Tuesday night to keep an engagement he had made with some gentlemen who were to pass through that city on Wednesday, and he has apparently found the situation there interesting enough to keep him longer than he had expected to stay. Mr. Mills got a telegram from some of his friends there yesterday, asking him to come over at once, and he left on the night train. Springer also went ever to New York yesterday. There is a great deal of mighty interesting politics zoing on where the three speakership candi-Mr. Crisp that he has secured a majority of York delegation, and that the fight now is to break the unit rule so as to keep break up his forces in New England. The Mills that Mr. Crisp will have a majority of the v York city vote, but are willing bet that Mr. Mills will have oklyn solid, and enough strength in the state, outside of New York city, to give him a majority of the delegation. Mr. Richardson, of Tennessee, who will probably be Mr. McMillan's chief lieutenant in the canvass, has arrived at the capital, and he and Mr. Patterson, of Tennessee, are le ing out for the interests of their candidate. Richardson appears to be very confident of the election of Mr. McMillan. There seems to be some misunderstanding about the Ohio delegation. The friends of Mr. Mills and Mr. Crisp both claim ten votes in that state, and there are only fourteen dem

The appointment by Governor Jackson of Ex-Congressman Gibson, of Maryland, as senator to fill the unexpired term caused by the death of the late Senator Wilson, removes him from the list of clerkship candidates and materially brightens the prospects of ex-Consylvania democratic state committee. Mr. son was Mr. Kerr's most formidable competitor, and, unless a new candidate springs into the field, Mr. Keer will win "in a walk," as they say on the turf. It is the general under standing here that in accepting the appe standing here that in accepting the appointive term of senator, Mr. Gibson bound himself not to contest before the legislature next winter for the elective term against Governor Jackson, who aspires to the senatorship.

For sargeant-at-agms of the house, if there is a "sure thing" in politics, Judge Yoder, of Ohio, appears to have one. He has no opposition at all. Unless there is a grand break up of the present lines, due to a deadlock on the speakership, he will be elected. For doorkeeper, "Icoman" Turner, of New York, who stepped aside at the request of Tammany hall to allow John R. Fellows to come to compress, is the leading candidate. New York will demand his election, and as New York generally pets what she wants, "Icoman" Turner's chances are exceedingly good. The scramble for the smaller places has not yet commenced.

Under the ruling of the comptroller general the aggregate assessed value of all the bank stock of Charleston banks is $2,380,750. The county board of equalization reduced this one-third, but the county auditor, under direction of the comptroller general, declined to accept the figures. Now the fight is on. A meeting of bank solicitors will be heid tomorrow, when, it is said, steps will be taken to carry the matter before the courts. The city assessed the value of bank stock at $1,007,550. The amount involved, and which will be saved by the banks here in the event of Judge Hudson's decision standing, is about seventy thousand dollars in taxes.

DID THE BEST HE COULD. That Is What the Admiral of the San Francisco Says of Minister Egan.

San Francisco, November 19.—The United States cruiser San Francisco arrived this mornng from Valparaiso, Chile, via Acapulco. It is said the fall of Valparaiso, after the deof the Balmaceda forces at Vina del Marby, the congressionalist forces under General Canto, was attended with scenes of carnage and rapine. The admiral denied absolutely that he had given Balmaceda knowledge of the insurgents' movements, and said it was false that the Chilean newspapers first announced the landing of the insurgents at Quinterosi from news he gave after his re-turn. It was known before he left Valparaiso.

He denied generally the charge of partiality towards Balmaceda. Speaking of Balmaceda's death the admiral said: "Had he come on board the San Fran-cisco, I would certainly have given him ref-uge. There was no chance for him to escape, uge. There was no chance for him to escape, however, as every avenue was guarded by soldiers of the junta."

"What do you think of Minister Egan?"

"What do you think of Minister Egan?"
was asked.
"He conducted himself through the entire trouble with the dignity demanded by his position. No man situated as he was could have done more. Some criticism was made against him, I see, for not sending official dispatches confirming the capture of Valparaiso, but they did not understand the condition of affairs. Mr. Egan was at Santiago, and all communication between that place and Valparaiso was shut off several days.
News reached the minister in a round-aboutway and he telegraphed to Washington, but he was ignorant of the fact that the wires were down."

It is understood here that the Charleston,

were down."

It is understood here that the Charleston, which left Yokohoma for Honolula November 17th, will, after coaling at Sandwich islands, proceed direct to South America without touching at San Francisco.

PAROCHIAL METHODS.

The Subject for Discussion in the Episcopal Congress.

Washington, November 19.—Bishop Dudley, of Kentucky, presided over the third day's session of the Episcopal congress. The subject was "New and Old Parochial Methods." Papers were read by Rev. Dr. G. W. Shinn, of Newton, Mass, and Rev. Dr. E. A. Bradley, of Brooklyn. Dr. Bradley, in his paper, said at present the church in America had only a fragmentary financial system. The clergy and the laity indulge in all sorts of schemes to raise the necessary funds for the support of the church—fairs and the like. It was terribly deficient in respect to money mat-

It was also a bad idea, he thought, and a mis-take to try and make the service of the church entertaining. A Catholic priest once said, in answer to the question as to how he liked a entertaining. A Catholic priest once said, in answer to the question as to how he liked a particular Episcopal church service, that he liked the simplicity of the service of his own church anoth better. The church, he declared, could only win the world to Christ by fighting—it never could be won by coaxing. Our methods were not aggressive enough and not evangelistic enough. We wanted fighting men in this warfare against the enemy of men's souls. He added, if we fail Rome or Satan must occupy the land. The emergency is great. It is not new machinery that we need so much as the restoration of the old. Strongly and steadily is the church gaining on its adversary, and each succeeding year finds it stronger, wiser and more alive to the needs and necessities of the times, and with a stronger purpose to do battle for the Lord and His kingdom. Thus would the war against Satan and sin continue until the church militant should become the church triumphant. The topic for discussion at the evening session was, "Catholic and Protestant Tendencies in the Life of the Church." Papers were read by Rey, Carl E. Grammer. Alexandria, Va.:

THE BEARS WERE SLAPPED

And the Bulls Had a Buoyant Market Yesterday.

NEW YORK, November 19 .- The Sun thus records: Cotton futures opened buoyant, presently declined, quickly rallied, closing firm at twelve to fifteen points advance from yesterday's closing prices. Liverpool gave our bears a smart slap today direct in the face. causing a rush to buy, which carried up prices causing a rush to buy, which carried up prices with a boom; but as no new point came out, timid bulls and operators, for a turn, began selling and part of the advance was soon lost. Then it began to be understood that the rise in Liverpool was due to free buying by Lancashire spinners, and the growing belief among the manufacturers that prices are on a safe basis. Renewed bouyancy was the result, and on the close they were buyers at the best figures of the day. The general reduction in the crop movement was among the elements working in favor of the bulls, still it did not appear that the leading bears covered their contracts and considerable pears covered their contracts and considerable fresh short interest was made at an advance. The southern markets were all more active, and some of them one-sixteenth cent dearer. Exports were very large.

A RACE FOR LIFE.

Governor Tillman Wants a Respite to Get

Through in Time. COLUMBIA, S. C., November 19.—[Special.] Governor Tillman is tonight sorely perplexed to know how to get word to Horry in time to prevent the hanging of John Hughes, alias Joe Bell, who is under sentence of execution for tomorrow. When he saturned home tonight he found in his mail at application from Hughes's attorney, stating that he had given notice of appeal, and it had been accepted by the solicitor. He asked for a respite pending this. The papers should have been presented to the judge, who would have granted the stay of execution. Instead, the attorney has made, of execution. Instead, the attorney has made, perhaps, a fatal blunder in sending them to the governor. Governor Tillman will do everything in his power to get a message through, and save the negro, but he fears he cannot accomplish it.

With Their Protest at the Alliance Convention.

THE ANTI-SUBTREEASURY MEN MAD. They Say They Will Return to Texas and Organize.

PRESIDENT POLK WAS RE-ELECTED.

The Third Party Men Claim That His Election Is a Vistory for Their Cause. Yesterday's Proceedings.

Indianapolis, November 19.—At yester day's session of the alliance council, among the mass of minor resolutions presented there came up something in the way of a fire brand in a series of resolutions offered by Mr. Branch, a delegate at large from Georgia. They were political in their nature, and were the result of much consultation among certain of the alliance leaders opposed to Livingston. These resolutions declared that a large number of men had been elected to congress by alliance votes and demanded that they support no man for speaker who would not first de-clare for the alliance platform. They further declared it the sense of the body that these congressmen should nominate one of their own number for the speakership, and stick to him. They further admonished alliancemen throughout the country to beware of commit-ting themselves to any party in such a manner as to interfere with their freedom of political action, or of taking any position in favor of men or parties not in sympathy with alliance principles. When they were introduced they were loudly cheered by the supporters of Polk. Mr. Branch asked that they be referred to the committee on demands, evidently knowing what the make-up of that committee would be. would be.

Another more zealous delegate moved a suspension of the rules in order to put the resolutions on their passage. Colonel Livingston Opposed It. Colonel Livingston opposed this in a very vehement speech, denouncing it as a third party scheme and said it was inspired largely by personal enmity against himself.

President Polk referred the resolutions, and when the committee was announced at 6 o'clock it became evident that this committee, with Weaver, of Iowa, at the head of it, was packed with radicals. It will undoubtedly repacked with radicals. It will undoubtedly report favorably upon the resolutions.

An effort to make the platform of the alliance more radical on the subject of government ownership of railroads and telegraph lines was made by Mr. Branch, delegate at large from Georgia. This resolution demands the countries overwhite for subject to while the the complete ownership of railroads, while the Ocala demand is for partial control, with a Coata demand is for partial control, with a contingent ownership if simply control is deemed impracticable.

The resolution went to the committee on legislative demands, and the prospects are that it will be favorably reported on.

This morning the subtreasury fight was the all-absorbing matter before the Farmers' Alliance and its kindred organizations. It seems very little nearer a solution than when the conference began. Anti-subtreasury men are active and aggressive, while the subtreasury people have been placed, to a large extent, on the defensive. Soon after the opening of this morning's executive session of the supreme council, Colonel Livingston, chairman of the committee, which last night met representa-tives of the anti-subtreasury element, rose and and that his committee was ready to report.

Instantly there was a disturbance.

On motion from a delegate seated on the Macune side of the house, a canvass of those present was made and every one not entitled to vote in executive session was obliged to leave the hall.

When the doors had been closed Colonel Livingston read the recommendation of the committee that Dr. W. Pope Yeamans, outhor of the anti-subtreasury protest, should have

After an acrimomous discussion, word was sent to the anti-subtreasury men to send in their protest. The antis replied to this that the committee was only empowered through Mr. Yeamans to present the protest, and until Mr. Yeamans could be heard by the supreme council the latter body would necessarily be deprived of the pleasure of reading the protest.

The answer of the council was that the pr estants could not be heard unless they furnish the council with a copy of the protest. This the antis refused to do, unless they could present their protest in person, and that ended the negotiations between the two wings of the alliance. The result is a split.

Will Return to Texas.

The executive committee of the anti-sub-treasury party will now proceed to Texas, where 127 suballiances have already declared against the subtreasury scheme, and will begin against the work of organizing a new alliance.

A call for a national convention will probably be issued tomorrow. This split on the subtreasury scheme and the capture of the alliance by the people's party are not the results of today's session. The capture of the alliance by the people's party are not the results of today's session. The capture of the alliance by the people's party accomplished two or three days ago, but the full extent of the capture was not apparent until today.

The Anti-Subtreasary Protest.

The Anti-Subtressary Protest.

The protest, after setting forth that its authors are a committee from the Farmers' and Laborers' Unions, against the alliance being committed to the proposition that the provision be made by the federal congress for government loans of money to individual citizens, upon farm mortgages as security, on to the demand for government ownership or control of railroad property and transportation. These schemes, it says, are unconstitutional and impracticable, conflicting constitutional and impracticable, conflicting with the spirit of the alliance movement and bending to the government paternalism and state socialism. The government naturally looks to its citizens for a supply of all its legitimate wants, the inversion of which state of affairs would make the government an engine of oppression and the citizen helpless and dependent. The system would dwarf the individual and alnormally magnify the government. individual, and abnormally magnify the gov rnment.

The protest then goes on to maintain that these two schemes, besides being class legislation, would bring greater evils than those which now oppress the people.

In conclusion, the committee expresses its desire to co-operate with the alliance in carrying out its principles, securing safe currency, ridding the land of trusts and monopolies, helping the farmer and laborer, securing an honest ballot and a fair count in selecting for places of public honor and emolument honest and capable men, who regard public office not as private advantage, but a public trust.

Polk Re-Elected. Polk Re-Elected.

President Polk was ananimously re-elected, and J. H. Louks, of South Dakota, was chosen vice president; J. H. Turner was re-elected secretary and treasurer, and J. F. Willetts, of Kansas, national lecturer.

George F. Washburn, of the national executive committee of the people's party, stated that the leaders of the party were jubilant over the election of Polk. Of the four great

Mr. Polk, in his annual address Tue mir. Folk, in his annual address Tuesday night, so severely condemned the two old parties, and in his address, as well as between the lines, so strongly indicated his tendencies to the people's party movement, that the election of any other one of the gentlemen mentioned would have been regarded as a blow to the popular party, while, on the other hand, the re-election of Polk is regarded as a victory for the people's party.

the re-election of Polk is regarded as a victory for the people's party.

The election of J. H. Louks, of South Dakota, as vice president is regarded as a great victory, from the fact that he is a member of the national committee of the people's party.

The fact that a large number of Farmers' Alliance delegates are also members of other industrial organizations and working together would indicate that the trend of their action was toward the unification of all, and in the direction of independent political action.

Third Partyltes Still at Work. Third Partyites Still at Work.

Third Partyites Still at work.

The third party junta is still vigorously proselytizing among the delegates to the alliance and Farmers' Mutual Benefit Association. This morning the work of organizing took definite shape on the joint meeting of representatives from the people's party's executive committee, the alliance and Tarmers' Mutual Benefit Association. F. H. Taubenick, of Illinois, acted as chairman and made an earnast annual for the consolidation of interests.

Benent Association. F. H. Taucenick, of Illinois, acted as chairman and made an earnest appeal for the consolidation of interests.

At the dinner recess Mr. Taubenick said the prospects for consolidation were very bright; that the Farmers' Mutual Benefit Association was heartly in favor of such action, but the affiance was opposed to it, though he thought the latter body would eventually fall into line, contrary to popular impression. The fight against the National Union Company was inaugurated afresh by the Reform Press Association this morning, which sent a committee to the supreme council of the alliance to protest against the action of the Business Agents' Association as taken yesterday, awarding the contract for furnishing alliance stores with supplies to the National Union Company.

The Confederation Scheme.

The committee on the confederation of the various industrial organizations met this morning at the Hotel Denison. This committee was composed of five representatives from each of the six organizations and was chosen by the latter for the purpose of calling a congress of all labor and industrial classes. t had been decided previous to this gathering to convene the congress at Washington on to convene the congress at Washington on February 122d, but the south and west made such strong objections to that place that it became necessary to decide upon some other location. The duty of the present meeting of the committee is to fix a place. The matter occasioned a lengthy discussion and ended in referring the question to a subcommittee, consisting of Terrell, Taubeneck and Baumgarien, with instructions that either Indianapolis, Louisville, Cincinnati, Chicago or Springfield, Ill., be chosen. This committee will look into the desirability of these places and the rates of transportation that can be obtained, after which it will report. It will make a decision within twenty days.

The political phase of the situation cropped out in the meeting, consuming much of the time of the session.

out in the meeting, consuming much of the time of the session.

The question at issue was whether the call for the confederated assembly on February 22d should leave the way open for the nomination of a national ticket at that meeting or whether the scope of work to be done there should be limited, so as to prevent political action. The latter course was the one finally decided non.

Will Make Demands.

When the assembly convenes it will proceed to draw up a platform of declarations and demands, and the two great political parties will be required to give them consideration and endorsement. these demands, and the way will remain clear for the people's party to call a convention after the other political conventions have been held and adopt the platform of the confederated labor assembly.

This is the plan of action now determined upon by the people's party. The Confederated Assembly of Industrial Unions, as it is called, will, in the minds of the committee, be the most timestant overstigned. most important organizations of recent years.

SENATOR ZACHRY TALKS About the Telegrams Being Sent from Indianapolis Just Now.

Senator Zachry, from Henry county, was in the city yesterday, and a Constitution re-porter asked him what he thought of the news from Indianapolis about the alliance conven tion there. "I think there has been printed a great many lies about what is going on there." replied the senator. "My reason for believing that, is this: The action of the committees is all secret, and must necessarily be so, whate ver is told is by men who violate their pledges, secret and must necessarily be so, whatever is told is by men who violate their pledges, and these men are the very kind that prefer to tell a falsehood rather than the truth.

"I have made up my mind," said Senator Zachry, "that it is best to wait and see what is done, before jumping to a conclusion as to what they are going to do. I think Watson and Ellington's visit there will do the Georgia alliance no good. Watson is not a member of the alliance, that I know of, and I see it stated that Ellington was there as vice president of the Georgia alliance. This is not true. Ellington ran for vice president, and got very few votes, because it was known he was a third party man. Wilson, of Sumter, is the vice president, Ellington represents no one but himself at Indianapolis. He wanted to be a delegate very badly, and asked me to help him. We both were in the senate together. I tried, but it was no go, and he got left."

Another prominent allianceman said: "I

I tried, but it was no go, and he got left."
Another prominent allianceman said: "I prefer not to use my name, but here is a telegram from Colonel Livingston, who has been informed of the kind of news that has been sent out from Indianapolis." The telegram reads as follows:

Tell the people that our enemies are circulating these lies to injure our cause. I will take care of the enemies of the alliance here, and will have something to say to those at home when I return.

"You know," said this gentleman "finat Claude N. Bennett, The Journal correspondent, is a brother-in-law of Senator Ellington. That will explain a good deal, when it is known, about what is going on up there now."

Forest Fires Have Driven Them Near the Cities.

THEY HAVE BEEN SLAYING SHEEP.

Armed Citizens Pursuing the Varmints, They Succeed in Driving Them Into a Swamp and Killing Some of Them.

Sr. Paul, Minn., November 19 .- Word reached here late last night that wolves killed three children of Andrew Gulick yesterday at Iron Rolling Mills, near New Brighton, ten miles north of St. Paul. During the great fires in the pine country in Sep-tember great droves of wolves were driven south into Ramsey and Anoka counties, and they have Anoka counties, and they have been subsisting on sheep in the neighborhood of the Twin City stock yards at New Brighton. A drove of 125 wolves were seen together in that vicinity Monday. Mr. Gulick's children wandered from home into the woods at noon and were attacked and devoured by the beasts. Twenty-five men with hounds started out after the wolves, and surrounded them in a swamp and killed eleven of them.

FLORENCE 18 DEAD.

The Actor Passes Away Very Quietly—His Death Unexpected.

Philadriphia, November 19.—William J. Florence, the actor, died at the Continental hotel, in this city, at 8:30 o'clook this evening. Death came as a startling surprise to those in attendance upon the sick man for the reason that his condition had been considered as improving during the afternoon and early evening. Only Mr. Florence's sister-in-law, Mrs. Barney Williams, of Brooklyn; his sister, Mrs. Norman Wlard, of Washington, and Dr. Patrick Donnellan, were with him when he passed away. He had been apparently getting better, and his physicians had no idea that the end was so near.

Mr. Florence's brother, Police Inspector Conlin, left for New York at 6 o'clock, thinking he was improving. Mr. Florence was very weak during the day from exhaustion, and in the afternoon was somewhat flighty. Towards evening he slept most of the time, however, and his death came so peacefully that it may be said that he slept away. He made no utterance, whatever, and the first intimation the watchers had of his death was that he had ceased to breathe.

Mrs. Florence will leave England for New York on Saturday, and the funeral arrangements will await her wishes.

Mr. Florence was taken ill with pneumonia Saturday evening. He was born at Albany, N. Y., July 26, 1831. His name originally was Conlin, but as he had adopted the stage name of Florence, he legalized his right to the latter by an act of the assembly passed by the New York legislature.

A Queer Campaign.

The campaign has been a phenomenal one, altogether unprecedented in the history of such elections in this state, Before the last legislature adjourned, when it had become known that the act which forbade the selling of spirituous liquors within three miles of the county schools and churches had received the executive sanction, the tocsin of battle was sounded throughout Hancock county, and a prohibition campaign was inaugurated on entirely new lines.

Inaugurated by the Antis. It was inaugurated by the antis, who have been most prominent in conducting it, that element having largely contributed to the procurement of the necessary signatures to the petition for an election, which the "local option" law requires to be addressed to the

The watchword of the campaign has not been prohibition for its own sake, but "country against town" on the principle that if the law excludes its sale from the restricted limits around country schools and churches, the votes of the country people will doom the traffic in the town of Sparta.

MR. POPWELL IS MAD,

And Will Take Steps to Recover His Reward

Brunswick, Ga., November 19.—[Special.]
Mr. John Popwell was in the city yesterday, and told an interesting tale of how he had been euchered out of a big reward for a nogro murderer whom he had run down and lodged in jall. The negro, it seems, had killed a very prominent and popular young white man in Terrell county, and that the father of the young man had offered a reward of $650 for Terrell county, and that the father of the young man had offered a reward of $650 for the murderer's apprehension. The matter was brought to Mr. Popwell's notice in some way, and, after much trouble and at an expense of a considerable sum of money, he located the negro in Florida, and arrested and jailed him. He then telegraphed the sheriff of Terrell county to come and get his man. The sheriff came down, saw the negro, said he was not the man wanted and turned him loose. He told the negro to go to McKinnon & Ward's mill and go to work. A few days before the negro's wages were due for the month with McKinnon & Ward, the sheriff appeared again, arrested him for murder, took him to Terrell county and claimed the reward of $550. It was a sharp trick, and Mr. Popwell is justly wrathy about it. He will take steps to recover the money.

THE HOWARDS COME CLEAR.

The Jury Reaches a Verdict of Acquittal COLUMBUS, Ga., November 19.-[Special.] After being out over thirty hours the jury in the ¡Howard-Bickerstaff case returned a verdict of not guilty as to all the defendants.

Great interest has been felt in the case. The case was one remarkable in its developments. Miss Ruth Howard was a weak-minded girl, one of the eight daughters of a widow. Forced to marry her, the child was gotton out of the way by criminal means, and Dawson went around slandering the name of his own wife.

Robert Howard was absent in Ohio. He returned to visit the Columbus exposition of last year. For the first time he heard the story of his sister's ruin and of Dawson's infamy. A KIND-HEARTED SHERIFF.

A Prisoner Escapes-Eating at the Sheriff's Table.

JASPER, Ga., November 19 .- [Special.]-Sheriff James H. Pinyan again finds himself in trouble. Last Friday William Foster was brought here from Atlanta jail, where he was serving a sentence from the United States district court for violations of the internal evenue laws. He was brought here to tes tify before Commissioner Allred's court. ster succeeded in convincing Sheriff Pinyan that he was worthy of trust, and thereupon that he was worthy or trust, and thereupon the sheriff allowed him to come from his ceil to a private room to take breakfast, and the sheriff went to town on business. During the sheriff's absence the prisoner decided to walk out and enjoy the fresh air, and has not yet returned.

It is stated that District Attorney Darnell is not very much pleased with this unusual liberality of the sheriff, and it is quite probable that he will take steps to interview the sheriff. Mr. Pinyan's bondsmen are also dis-satisfied, and have made application to be re-leased from his bond.

Mr. Pinyan is, indeed, kind to his prisoners. He has one prisoner left in his custody who has the liberties of the premises. He occupies the parlor, eats with the family, and the only restraints thrown around him are his own se restraints thrown around him are his own sense of propriety and free will.

If the present bondsmen succeed in being released it is quite probable that Pickens will have an election for sheriff soon. Pinyan's first bondsmen were released because of his failure to faithfully discharge his duties as sheriff, and if the present sureties be released it is not probable that he can again make bond. Sheriff Pinyan was arrested today and carried before Commissioner Allred on the charge of voluntarily permitting a United States prisoner to escape from his custody. In default of a thousand-dollar bond he was committed to jail. J. D. Cowart was appointed by Ordinary a thousand-dollar bond he was committed to jail. J. D. Cowart was appointed by Ordinary Cornelison to perform the duties of sheriff, and Pinyan is now confined in the jail of which he heretofore had charge.

Sheriff Pinyan was arrested on a warrant from Judge Allred, United States commissioner, and is now in jail waiting to be sent to Atlanta. The securities on the bond of Pinyan are a little agitated and looking out to know the extent of their liability. Pinyan has been too good natured for sheriff.

IT WAS NOT A BEAR,

But a Young Man, Who Frightened the Citizens of Perry.

PERRY, Ga., November 19.—[Special.]—The "bear" that perambulated the streets of Perry at night week before last and made an unearthly noise was not a dangerous animal, and has not become so since. We were let into has not become so since. We were let into the secret the other day, and it is not surpris-ing that those who heard the noise thought a bear, or some other savage animal, was loose in the town.

A very modest young man and a "dumb bull" caused all the fright and speculation. There may be some who do not know what a "dumb bull" is, and it is in order to tell. It "dumb bull" is, and it is in order to tell. It is nothing more nor less than a nail keg with both heads out and a piece of rawhide stretched tightly over one end. The raw hide is first saturated with water, and put over the end of the keg while in that condition, and fastened the keg while in that condition, and isstened securely. When completely dry, it is as taut as a drum head. Then a small round hole is cut in the center of the rawhide, and a "string" of horse hairs, about the size of a fiddle bow, is inserted. This bow is then manipulated with rosin, and when drawn back and forth through the hole, a most outgraveous noise is produced.

Thus came about the impression that there was a bear in Perry. The instrument was brought here from Fort Valley, and a Perry young man operated it.

SAVANNAH RIVER CONVENTION.

Business Transacted at the Meeting in Augusta Yesterday.

Augusta, Ga., November 19.-The Savannah river convention, composed of repre sentative delegates from Augusta, Savannah Atlanta and counties adjacent to the river or the Georgia side, and from Abbeville, Port Carolina, met at the Augusta exposition today, President Patrick Walsh presided over the convention and an address of welcome to delegates was delivered by Hon. John S. Davidson, ex-president of the Georgia senate. The convention was unanimous and earnest in the conviction that the Savannah river was entitled to better treatment at the hands of the federal government and that a stream of such im-portance should be made thoroughly navigable at all seasons. It was decided to send a delega-tion to Washington to urge the matter upon congress, and appropriate resolutions were adouted.

The Resolutions Passes.

The resolutions are as follows:

Thought She Was Hurt.

From The Perry, Ga., Home Journal.

One day several weeks ago, two farmers were in a buggy driving a mule through the streets of Perry. When directly in front of a certain residence their attention was attracted by a noise that issued from the house. The driver stopped the mule, and for a moment the men listened intently.

Then by vigorous action the mule was induced to go forward, and the driver exclaimed, "My God! I thought she was hurt."

The farmers had discovered that the young lady of the house was singing an operatic air, with piano accompaniment.

A young man was passing by, he reported the occurrence to his father, and thence came our information. From The Perry, Ga., Home Journal.

A TALK ABOUT DIRECTORIES.

A Library of Little Fame But of Vast There is an interesting library in the office of H. G. Saunders, city statistician and gazetteer, at the Chamber of Commerce. It is a complete set of state gazettes and city directories of the United States. There is nothing like it in the south.

Mr. Saunders, whose word is always quoted as authority in matters statistical, renews this library every year at a cost to himself of some-thing like $750. He maintains it for the benefit of his patrons, and everybody, both patron and stranger, is welcome to use it free of cost at any tin Few people know what a vast amount of information is accessible here, or how often they can be served by referring to special volumes. Every one realizes the indispensable service of a local city directory. Very often the addresses of friends, or business houses, in a distant city are wanted—perhaps just as urgently; but the simple process of looking in the directory of that city never suggested itself to them. It may be they do not know that by calling at Mr. Saunders's office they can find almost any directory published.

Just the other day a prominent citizen wanted the street and numbers of several parties in a western city. He exhausted every means of information he could think of without success. He was just on the point of telegraphing the mayor of that city when he happened to drop into Mr. Saunders's office. Immediately the scores of directories suggested a new idea to him, and, with of Mr. Saunders, he had the facts that he wanted within three minutes. This was just an accidental discovery of this valuable repository of facts; but there are many citizens who profit by such knowledge

Many of the larger cities north and west have such libraries in regular operation as a commercial convenience. They serve the public for a twenty-five cent fee. But Atlanta, although having the only complete bureau of the kind in the south, has access to its library for nothing.

It is an interesting study to run through this library. There are three bookcases filled with these bulky volumes; there is a stack of them on the floor, and half a dozen new ones just received are yet on the table for closer inspec-in Mr. Saunders sopinion, boston leads all cities in the perfection of the city directory, its 104th edition by the same publishing company being now in use—the model of clearness, completeness and accuracy. Detroit, he says, follows very close to it in the race for general excellence.

The latter directories, with but one exception, are all gotten up on a practical, business like plan, without ornament or essay at inter esting reading. That of gushing Topeka Kan., breaks the rule with a witty and sarcas tic introduction in the form of a preface which bears the signature of Mark Twain. It is very funny reading, and in ad-vance will impress the stranger favorably with lf you look under a curtained box you will see two piles of books of the same size and make-up. They are a part of a small stock of Birmingham and Montgomery directories, the work of Mr. Saunders, which remained over from the last issue. Mr. Saunders also compiles and applicable the disconlect Agreement from the last issue. Mr. Saunders also compiles and publishes the directories of Augusta, Savannah and Columbus, Ga. But Atlanta' directory is his special pride, and each issue he has brought out is an improvement on the last.

Atlanta's first directory was published in 1859. It is an imposing-looking volume, bound in yellow cardboard and is about the bound in yellow cardboard and is about the size of McGuffy's spelling book. But its outside is nothing to the contents. Besides a full list of the town people, their locations and business, there is a perfect compendium of facts relating to the primitive history of Atlanta.

The head lines to some of these will best describe it. "The First Man Hung in Atlanta," "The First Lawyer in Atlanta," "How Atlanta was Named," "The First Fire in Atlanta." "The Price of Board with Families and at Hotels," and others equally as novel. Board in Atlanta in 1851, it states, was $12 a month at hotels, and from $8 to $11 at private boarding houses.

One of the hotel proprietors, according to its story, "raised board to $15 of a sudden, whereat great dissatisfaction arose among his guests and many quit him." Such was the price of living and the royal-heartedness of "mine host" in 1851.

Then a complete list of all the church mem Then a complete list of all the church members is added; also one of the fire and police departments, and even a complete roll of the membership of the existing secret lodges.

Mr. Saunders says that if such enterprise existed among the directory compliers of Atlanta today the work would have to appear in large-sized volumes, and in serial form, such as our general cyclopedias, and a man and a cart would have to be employed to carry them about for general use. To this extent have the conditions and circumstances of Atlanta changed.

The second directory was published several years later. This one is not in the possession et of Atlanta's directories as they stand speak volumes for the city's marvelous growth. Each copy has, as a rule, some improvements in mattet, and is somewhat larger in bulk. It may be said with simple justness to Mr. Saunmay be said with simple justness to Mr. Saunders that the step is very perceptible between the old miscellaneous series, compiled by different editors, and his larger and more uniform series of five successive issues.

His sixth volume is now in the course of preparation. With Atlanta's growth, of course these directories will continue to in-rease in size and improve in relative value.

AN ENRAGED BULL

Master of the Situation and Makes Things Lively.

LUMPKIN, Ga., November 16,- [Special.] Colored butcher in town went out to Mr. L. C. Toombs's farm, three miles from town, to get a young bull which he had bought from Mr. Toombs. He drove the bull quietly to town, all the way thinking of the juicy porterhouse steak with which he would serve his custom-steak with which he would serve his customers the next morning.

Having reached the slaughter pen about night, his bovine majesty was assaulted with numerous pistol shots about the curi of the forehead, and this so enraged him that he quickly proceeded without previous announcement to clear the grounds of butchers, spectators, idlers and everything and everybody.

He scon heaven master of the situation and He soon became master of the situ

Mr. Toombs learning of the situation, sent another cuffy with, his gun to reinforce the treed darky, perceiving which the bull made an attempt, rather hastily, to interview cuffy, No. 2, who made a toold charge upon a tree near by, ascending it in such haste that a scrape of his pants was left dangling on the horn of Bos. The gun was dropped in the flight up the tree, and the bull took great delight in reducing it to its original number of pieces by stamping upon it, and tossing it around in the air.

A Winchester rife then got in its deadly work, and his majesty was dethroned by a leaden pellet.

THE GATE CITY GUARD ENTERTAINED.

A Delightful Evening Spent Amid a Galaxy of Flowers and Feminine Beauty.

The Gate City Guard was given a royal entertainment last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. VanDyke, on Merritts avenue. The house was heautifully decorated with ribbons, flowers and flags. A delightful evening was spent by the boys amid the scenes of gayety and loveliness that favored the occasion.

The supper was sumptuous and was beautifully arranged. On the center table, amid lavish decorations of fruits and flowers, was a large cake iced in colors, with the emblem "G. C. G." This cake contained a ring and several coins, and was cut by the soldier boys in order of rank. Captain West broke the first icing, and was followed by Colonel Ca-houn, Captain Kendrick, Lieutenant Gold-smith and Lieutenant Daniels, after which the company came in order.

Mrs. VanDyke, as hostess, won the hearts of all the boys. Her cordial greeting and charming manner were an important pleasure of the evening. The Guard, in fatigue uniform, attended in a body, the married men accompanied by their wives.

M. T. Johnson, a Medical Student. Kno Down and His Watch Snatched.

M.T. Johnson, a medical student in the Southern Medical college, was knocked down and his watch cut off of him last night.

Johnson had been out taking in the town with a friend and fell into company with five other men. The men and the student fell out and they attacked him.

They took his cane away from him and struck him a blow over the eye hard enough to knock him down. They struck him two or three licks after he was down, and then grabbed his watch and ran. Two of the men held the man that was with Johnson, but did not strike him.

As soon as Johnson recovered sufficiently he went to police headquarters and reported the matter to Captain Wright. He is from

HE STOLE A BABY. The Curious Freak of a Half-Witted Negro

AMERICUS, Ga., November 19.—[Special.]—Perhaps the most curious case of theft on record came to the attention of the police in this city. Ben Davis, a half-witted son of Julia Davis, colored, stole a negro baby about two years old and carried it around the streets offering to sell it for the small sum of $1. He approached many persons in the endeavor to dispose of the child, which he claimed to be his own. Some one notified Chief of Police Lingo of the fact, and he immediately dispatched Officer Wheeler to secure the infant and return it to its mother. This was done before the mother had discovered the fact that her child was missing. AMERICUS, Ga., November 19.-[Special.]-

UNITED STATES WEATHER MAP FOR TODAY.

Explanatory Note.

OCLEAR OFAIR & CLOUDY BRAIN SNOW Dotted lines, or isothermal, pass through points of equal temperature. Unbroken lines, or isobars, pass through points of equal air pressure. The arrows fly with the wind. The figures at the end of the isotherms show the temperature all along that line. The isobars, or lines of equal pressure, run round a "high" cold wave or a "low" rain area, just as hillside ditches run round a knoll. The isobars rise one above the other with the grade of the atmospheric hill, or descend with the grade of the atmospheric valley. When you see the figures 30.01 at the end of a line it means that at all places where the line runs the air is high enough to balance in weight 30.01 inches of mercury. The same for 30.2, 30.3, etc. The cold comes with the high atmosphere, and rain usually with a "low."

As predicted yesterday morning, the cold wave is passing off the coast, and is being folowed by a lower barometer and warmer weather in the west. These facts can be clearly seen on the accompanying map. Clouds have gathered in the eastern part of the country, and there has been a little rain at a few places. The weather throughout the west is clear. The outlook for the next forty-eight hours is for more or less cloudy weather and possible showers, with a gradual increase of heat.

New and Elegant Hotel at Americus, Ga.,

Notwithstanding the strongest competition by the largest dealers in the country. This is a compliment to Atlanta, as well as to ourselves, as it shows that Atlanta can supply what southern hotels need, and that there is a house here which can meet all the demands. This is one of the largest contracts ever given out in the south, and probably the largest ever undertaken by a southern house, amounting, as it does, to $15,000.

During the last few years, since we have been in the Carpet business, we have fitted out in a most satisfactory manner the following elegant hotels: The Bluffton Hotel, at Bluffton, contract price, $2,500; The Ballard House, Atlanta, contract price, $3,500; the St. Simon's, Brunswick, contract price, $6,000; the Empire, Dalton, contract price, $7,500; the Sweetwater Park Hotel, contract price, $9,000; the Oglethorpe, Brunswick, contract price, $12,000; the State Capitol, Atlanta, contract price, $14,000, besides refurnishing at different times such hotels as the Kimball and Markham, as well as many private residences, where the contracts amounted to thousands of dollars.

We are now better prepared than ever with our extensive, elegant and complete stock of Carpets, Furniture and Draperies to furnish any building, however large, with an assurance of satisfaction in every respect. The Cotton Outlook.

Under the new conditions of finance, commerce and industry, the successful farmer finds it necessary to adopt business methods and conduct his affairs according to business principles.

Last year our farmers held back their enormous cotton crop, but prices steadily declined. This year they have gone to the other extreme, and the rapid marketing of their staple has forced prices down below the cost of production.

There is a time when it is to the producer's interest to hold his cotton, and close observers of the situation are satisfied that now is the time to resort to that policy.

Too many of our farmers and merchants are misled by the predictions as to cotton telegraphed from New York. These reports appear in the news columns of the press, and it is taken for granted that they are reliable. The fact is, they are frequently the work of speculators who send them out to aid their speculative schemes. Just at present the speculators are trying to make it appear that this year's crop is exceptionally large, but it is the opinion of southern experts that the crop is very far short of last year's output. Unfortunately, however, the rapid marketing of the crop has played into the hands of the speculators, and has caused their estimates to be generally accepted. The only thing that will help producers now is to hold cotton back. If it must be sold in order to pay off indebtedness, it is all right, and this we advise every farmer to do, but everyone who is independent enough to afford it, should hold his cotton until the era of low prices is over.

It has been suggested that if the southern farmers would buy 10,000,000 bales for future delivery, and plant no cotton next year, they would be masters of the situation. Cotton would rise to war-time prices, and the south would make hundreds of millions clear profit-more than production will yield in fifteen or twenty years. We have never favored speculation in futures, but it is plain that this suggestion, somewhat modified, is full of tempting possibilities. Suppose our farmers, through the alliance, should purchase 5,000,000 bales for delivery next summer, and plant only enough seed to make a crop of 4,000,000 or 5,000,000 bales? As soon as the facts were known the bears would be stampeded and cotton would advance to prices that would vield producers a handsome profit.

The southern planters have reached a point where self-preservation is the supreme question. They cannot go on selling cotton at 1 or 2 cents below the cost of production. Their lack of prosperity affects every industry, every line of business and every class in the south.

With united action it is possible to materially improve the situation. It is not practicable to plant no cotton, but it is practicable to reduce production to the extent of 25 per cent, and if this is done next year the south will realize a splendid price for her great staple and the whole southern country would prosper as it has not for years.

It is time for our farmers to take a strictly business view of the cotton industry. Let them begin their work of self-protection by holding back their cotton, provided always, that their debts are paid. Then let them get together in their alliance meetings and plan their line of action next year. In the meantime, they will do well to warn their neighbors against the cotton predictions sent out from New York in the interest of the speculators who control the market.

What Is His Name?

The Norfolk Landmark has asked The New York Herald its opinion as to the conditions of success for the democratic party in New York and Indiana in 1892, and The Herald gives an extended reply. We have always thought that politics was The Herald's weakest suit, so to speak, although it is a great newspaper. Its reply, however, is interesting and suggestive. It informs The Landmark that it is necessary for the democratic party to choose a candidate who is not knee-deep in pledges, and who is free from deals with any association of office seekers. The party must have a candidate who will not force on it a campaign of explanation.

In order to get such a candidate, The Herall says the party will have to go outside of New York state, and it declares that the people would vote for such a man more freely than they would for either Mr. Hill or Mr. Cleveland. It says that the feeling is growing that a man from the west would make a better showing than any candidate from the region of New York. "If Hill seeks the nomination, the cry will be Tammany; if Cleveland demands it, the cry will Tammany. If some one outside of New York is chosen there can be no such cry, and we can go in the fight on the great es pure and simple, without the drawback are very interesting. They outline a possible sination, undoubtedly, but before they become the views of the democratic party the situation will have to be considerably changed and simplified. The whole matter depends now, as heretofore, on New York on the leaders who control the people. In other words, the influence of New York state will be paramount in the convention, for the success of the party depends on its ability to carry that commonwealth. Such a situation may have a depressing influence on a sparkling independent paper like The New York Herald, but it will not depress democrats nor deprive them of hope. If New York will go to a western man in the convention, he will be nominated: if New York goes to the convention divided, a western man will probably be the outcome of it, but New York will dictate the nomi nation. If that state sends a solid delegation for Mr. Cleveland he will get the nom ination; if he cannot secure the delegation he will not be nominated. So with any other man. Whoever receives the solid support of the New York delegation will get the nomination. This is the situation pre cisely.

The Mugwump Party.

The mugwumps of Massachusetts are en gaged in a brand-new scheme. They propose to form a new party, and we think every democrat who takes an interest in the success of his own organization will wish them well. Any event, contingency o movement that will result in taking the mugwump element out of the democratic party for good and all ought to be hailed with delight by all who believe that the government should be administered in accord ance with the principles of democracy.

It was the mugwump element wrecked Mr. Cleveland in 1888, and robbed the party of the fruits of a victory that it had earned and which it deserved. To please this element and to secure its support Mr. Cleveland insisted on retaining several thousand active republican partisans in office, thus offending democratic workers all over the country, and carrying the party to defeat. The lesson was indeed a costly one, and no democratic administration hereafter can have the excuse of ignorance so far as mugwumpism is concerned. While we hall with delight the news that the mugwumps are about to form a party of their own, we are not at all sanguine as to the outcome of the experiment. How can a lot of political eunuchs form themselves into a party? What sort of a platform can they agree on? They have no convictions and no political principle. They do not believe in party organization nor in party discipline. They profess to believe in "purity," and yet, to carry out their ideas of so-called "reform" they are willing to make corrupt bargains with either or both parties as circumstances may warrant.

We should be glad to see the platform on which these silly fad-seekers could stand. It must necessarily be a conglomerate affair, contradictory, commonplace, obviously hypperitical and subject to revision once every fortnight. It must be inconsistent and fraudulent on the face of it in order to bind those who propose to stand on it. In other words, it must represent nothing except nsincerity in order to appeal to the mugwump element. We have strong hopes that Mr. Cleveland has seen the error of his ways, and that he is now prepared to appreciate mugwumpism at its true value. At any rate, he gave a hearty support to Tammany in the recent election, and practically endorsed its methods and its candidates, and his attitude is at least significant. If his conversion had come in 1887 he would now be president, and the democratic party would be firmly established in control of the government. We do not believe in crying over spilled milk, but when we see the place in the big road where the piggin was overturned, it is difficult to refrain from express ing regret; yet it is a regret soothed and softened by the reflection that Mr. Cleveland is now convinced that Jeffersonian mugwumpery.

Respectable Criminals.

The mistrial in the case of Woodruff, the the defaulting ex-treasurer of Arkansas, will probably be repeated the next time he is tried.

The evidence made it plain that Woodruff was guilty, and yet six of the jury voted for acquittal. A juror said: "It is not a question of law or evidence that divides us.

It is our sympathy for the defendant." It is well known that this man embezzled and squandered the state's money entrusted to his care. Yet the defaulter is so popular, and has so many good qualities that his fellow-citizens are unwilling to treat him like a common felon. In fact, it is openly said that no jury will ever convict him. Undoubtedly, this is a bad state of affairs. It makes the law a dead letter, and paves the way for other corrupt officials in high places who will rival Woodruff in their appropriation of public funds. It is unfortunate that many people have an idea that wholesale dishonesty is more respectable than retail dishonesty. They appear to think that the criminal who steals the contents of a state treasury is more respectable than the fellow who takes only a few dollars from a private citizen.

The people of Arkansas should get this notion out of their heads. Theft is theft, no matter how high the social and official position of the offender may be, and the failure to enforce the law in a case like Woodruff's is bound to encourage others to follow in his footsteps. When the masses see that a favored few are above the law, and exempt from its penalties, they will clamor for the same privileges. They will lose all respect for the law, and the general demoralization of society will follow. It is very unpleasant for a jury to convict a nice man like Woodruff, but the fact should be borne in mind that he ceased to be a nice man when he became a thief ..

The Trouble in China.

The revolutionists in China seem to be running everything to suit themselves. No effort has been made by the government to suppress them, and it is probable that in the course of a few months they will have the entire country under their control.

The violent part of the movement thus far has been directed against foreigners. Even the Christrian missionaries have not been spared. Their property has been debeen driven to the large cities, where they still have at least the show of protection.

The United States and several European powers appreciate the serious nature of the situation, but they are comparatively help-less. Their war vessels are anchored in various Chinese ports, but it is out of the question to attempt hostile operations in the

If the revolutionists butcher the foreign residents and missionaries and confiscate their property, we can do very little in the way of punishment or obtaining reparation.
As the First Napoleon said: "No civilized nation can go to war with the Chinesethere are too many of them." After bom barding the coast cities we can adopt the policy of non-intercourse, but it will injure us more than it will the Chinese.

We are comparatively helpless in this matter. And there is little hope of a change for the better. The lower classes in China have been told by the leaders of the revolutionists that our missionaries are killing Chinese babies and using their dead bodies in the manufacture of certain kinds of medicine. With such reports in circulation it is not likely that the persecution of the missionaries and other foreigners will stop until they are killed or driven out of the coun-

For some years to come our interests will have little or no protection in China, and when our citizens visit that country they will do it at the risk of losing both life and property.

Counting Cotton at the Gin. A correspondent, whose letter appears o this page, makes the important suggestion that cotton be counted at the gin, where it first makes it appearance. His idea that it be so counted and reported this year, by December 1st, is not practicable. It might be done in ten days by the employment of some hundreds of agents to take a cotton census in each county, but the expense would be enormous, and the returns gathered on such short notice, by hasily enlisted agents, would not be accurate.

Nevertheless, the suggestion is a good one for the future. It may be put in motion next year, and in the years that follow. A very simple and effective way to accomplish the desired result would be for the legislature to pass a law requiring every ginner of cotton to report weekly or monthly to the county tax collector, or directly to the commissioner of agriculture, the number of bales going through his gin. Every Saturday, for example, the ginner might be required to forward a sworn statement of the cotton ginned during the week. In this way the extent of the crop would be known as fast as it might be gathered, and there would be no more guessing at the amount of cotton remaining on the plantations. This uncertain quantity has been used by the speculators as means to depress the price of cotton, and speculation would have less leverage if its uncertainty could be removed as soon as cotton comes to the gin. There is good reason to believe, as Mr. Gay, says, that the early opening of the erop this year has caused it to be greatly overestimated and has led to a depression of the price far below what it would be if the size of the crop were accurately known. In all cases it will be an advantage to know the number of bales ginned as soon as the bagging and ties are put on. The suggestion of our correspondent is a capital one.

Colonel John H. Inman. From The Augusta Chronicle

The Chronicle is pleased to welcome Colonel John H. Inman, president of the Richmond and Danville, to Augusta and to the exposition. No man has contributed more to the success of the exposition by his liberality than Colonel Inman. He is the head of the most important railroad system in the south, and no man is doing more for its development. He knows the resources and appreciates the advantages of the south. He is in full sympathy with our people, and is in a position to induce capital to invest in the south, and to foster our agricultural, mining and manufac turing interests. All of his investments are in the south, and he is devoting his means an his energies toward building up our industries.

people. We are rejoiced to know that he has placed his railroad properties upon a firm basis, and that the malicious efforts made to cripple them have ignobly failed. The Richmond and Danville and the leased lines are controlled by southern men in whom we have confidence. His business ability and financial standing are beyond question. No man could go to the top York as Colonel Inman has done unless he possessed extraordinary ability as He has deservedly won his high position. He possesses the confidence of busi ness men in the financial centers of the coun-

Southern people should respect him for his deserved success, and thank him for his efforts in giving the south an improved railroad service. All his splendid energies are now devoted to the railroad system the head, and to improving the industrial condition of the south from the Potomac to the Mississippi.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Counting Cotton at the Gin

GAY, MERIWETHER COUNTY, Georgia, Novem per 19, 1891 .- Editor Constitution: Knowing you are always ready and willing to do all in write a suggestion I think could be very easily carried out, and might be of some interest to our people, especially the cotton growers, and that is some plan to arrive at the number of bales octton raised this year; also the number last year, which by comparing would give the fall off in this year's crop compared to that of last year the fall off being larger, I think, than is esti mated.

My plan for arriving at this is that all ginneries that glinned any cotton in the state of Georgia in 1890 and 1891 report by December 1st the number of bales of cotton ginned each year. By that time there will be 35 per cent at least of this year's there will be us per cent as was carried out, which crop ginned.

It seems to me if this plan was carried out, which could be very easily done, we could arrive at this crop, and if it is much shorter than last, the knowledge of the fact might have a stimulating effect on the market.

There is no doubt that the ginneries get all the cotton. There is no way for the cotton to escape the gins.

I run a ginnery myself, and last year I ginned 700 bales. This year I will gin 600 bales. Other ginneries around me will fall off more than I will.

Of course there are other ways by which we find out the number of bales raised, but that is by the receipts and comes too late for the farmer. My plan would arrive at the number of bales the earliest way possible and while much of it would be in the farmers hands. iest way possible and white in the farmers hands.

This plan could be carried out by all the cotton-growing states, and I believe would be of consid-growing states, and I believe would be of consid-grable interest to the farmers. Yours truly W. F. GAY.

"As it now stands there is no house of any size open to colored visitors to the city, and they are compelled to go to the small boarding houses with no accommodations whatever. Several moneyed men of Augusta look favorably on the plan, and a stock company is soon to be organized with a capital of $20,000. If this idea is carried out there will no doubt be lots of money in it for the projectors. It will be the first thing of its kind in this part of the country, but it has been worked to advantage elsewhere."

Brunswick's proposed orphan's home is taking shape. The plan is to purchase a small farm or tract of land in the suburbs of Brunswick, erect the necessary buildings thereon, place the tution under competent the necessary buildings thereon, make it tution under competent management, make it self-supporting by furnishing employment of various kinds to the children, and then turn it various kinds to the cover to the governor as a state institution. It is proposed to capwass Brunswick as well as every other portion of the state for subscriptions, ranging from 25 cents upwards, and it is confidently believed that in this way a sufficient amount can easily be raised for the establishment of an or ne, which will be an honor to Bruns wick and to Georgia, and a bles dreds of suffering, starving little ones who are care for them. Those who have originated this plan are sanguine of carrying it to success, and a humane and charitable public will no doubt enable them to realize their expectations.

Canada is discontented with he present alliance and wishes to join the United States. A revolution has been started in China, and the Greeks are about to rebel against their ruler. A conspiracy has been dis-covered in Russia to give the people representative government, and the anarchists in Chicago have made themselves conspicuous and offensive again. Hostilities in Cork have been temporarily suspended, but the war there does not appear to be over, if there is any virtue in the com-pliments paid by the conflicting parties to each other. In addition to all this there is a definite rumor of a European war in which Emperor Will-iam expects to take a hand. The possibility of a war between this country and Chile has not been entirely set at rest, and the trouble with the East Tennessee miners is as far from an adjustment a ever. All of these things go to show tha the nineteenth century is almost as exciting a century to live in as one of the dark ages What is particularly noticeable is the prevale of revolutions in states which have been practally owned by one man. This is a good sign t for it proves that the people are awakening to ar appreciation of their rights. It may be that the people in Brazil and Russia do not know how govern themselves. Still they could hardly any worse than Fonseca or the czar. GATHERED AT RANDOM.

The news of Bishop-Elect Nelson's acceptance to the high honor tendered him by the diocese of Georgia will be welcome indeed to members of the church through the state Dr. Nelson possesses to a high degree the qualifications necessary in a successful bishop. He is a gentleman of breadth and strength, a man of energy-one who will be a power for good in the diocese. His selection was a happy settlement of the uncertainty which the church has felt since Bishop Beckwith's death, and which, while probably it has done no harm, has certainly done no good. I am sure that no man in the church will give the new bishor heartier welcome or more enthusiastic support than the able and eloquent rector of St. P Angusta. TWO LOVED LADIES.

Mrs. Jefferson Davis and Her Daughter Visit Atlanta.

CHAT WITH MISS WINNIE.

She and Her Mother Stopped Over Here to See a Model Which an Atlanta Artist Is Making of the Ex-President.

Mrs. Jefferson Davis and her daughter, Miss Winnie, arrived from Richmond at midday yesterday. Major Sidney Root, who was in waiting at the union depot, met them as they stepped from the train, and ascorted them to the Kimball. They did not intend to register at first, because they wished to rest and, having only four hours to remain in the city, preferred to be as quiet as possible. They were assigned room 111, and in the course of an hour their names were entered on the register, their residence being simply inscribed, "Miss."

The real purpose of the stop-over was to visit Mr. Frazee's studio and see the bust of Mr. Davis which the artist is modeling in clay.

Mr. Frazee called at the hotel directly after the arrival of the ladies, and when they had taken a short rest, he and Major Root accompanied them in a carriage to the studio on Whitehall street, over Chamberlin & Johnson's. The studio is filled with medallions, heads, busts and pictures. In one corner by window is the model standing on a working table. The model is of the head and bust, show ing Mr. Davis as he was about five years before his death. At that time he wore a short mustache and beard, always rather closely trimmed. In the clay model he is given a kindly expression in which there is a suggestion of a smile and it is a perfectly natural one, such as Mr. Davis's face usually bore in the later years of his life. Mrs. Davis and Miss Winnie examined it long and carefully. They were greatly pleased with the work, and liked it better even than the photographs, of which Mr. Frazee has a collection of twenty different

"There was something in Mr. Davis's expression which no one who did not know him well can describe," said Mrs. Davis "I hardly know how to define it myself, but it was the strength and soul and spirit."

"You have an admirable likeness, Mr. Frazee, but I think the face should be just a trifle more full," said Miss Winnie.

Mrs. Davis made some suggestions and explained the expression she desired on the face. Of all the photographs, she liked best those representing Mr. Davis before and during his presidency, in the early years of their love and married life. Mr. Frazee, it will be remembered, went to New Orleans and took a mask of Mr. Davis's face three days after his death. A plaster cast made from that mask hangs just back of the clay model. This cast was studied, too, by the widow and daughter and they compared it with the model. The forehead of the model is a perfect likeness of the original. The hair and beard are also very life-like in

Mrs. Davis promised to return if possible and see Mr. Frazee's work before he finishes it. Miss Winnie was quite sure that she would visit the studio again in the course of a few months. Both ladies are anxious that the work shall be as perfect a likeness as possible.

They spent half an hour in the studio and returned to the Kimball for dinner. By that time the news of their presence in the city had reached a number of their personal friends and many cards were left for them. Later in the afternoon they received several callers, among them a representative of THE CONSTITUTION. Miss Winnie, who is one of the most attractive women in the world, is the picture of health, and looks better than ever before in her life. She has ripened somewhat in figure in the last two or three years, and is a handsome, stately, queenly lady. She and her mother were in deep black. Mrs. Davis is quite stout and is feeble, and walks with difficulty. Yet she said that she was feeling very well, and was not much fatigued by the ride from Rich-time and are anxious to get back there, where we will spend the winter," said Mrs. Davis. "We desired to see the model Mr. Frazee is making Mr. Davis. We were greatly pleased with it. The artist tells us that he can give the face that individuality which was peculiar in Mr. Davis's expression Mrs. Davis added that she was called to Memphis on business. "We part here," remarked Miss Winnie. "I shall go to Beauvoir and prepare for mother, who will reach there in a week or two."

"No, and I regret that we must deprive our selves of the pleasure of meeting our friends here. We have many here whom we cherish fondly. Atlanta has been so kind to us."
"And you liked the model?"
"Very much, indeed. I think mother's ideal would be a likeness of father as he was in middle life. This one the artist is making resembles him in the later years, about the time, I should say, when he visited Atlanta in the spring of 1886. He was strong then for one of his years and stood those two weeks of travel and ova-tions very well indeed. You know, I did not see him in his last illness, being in Paris at the time. had become of the forger who wrote to a number of their friends a few weeks ago and tried to raise money.

A basket of beautiful roses was brought in and the ladies admired them. "How lovely they are," exclaimed Miss Winnie, and as she the name on the card added "That is a dear, sweet friend who is indeed kind and thoughtful." Many other floral remembrances were sent to the ladies'

Mr. Plunket, a driver on one of the Capitol arenue street cars, was held up and robbed.

He had reached the end of the line and was loosing his team to transfer it to the other end of the car, preparatory to making the return trip. When he reached down to loose his team he did not see anybody around, but when he looked up two big Colt's revolvers stared him in the face. Before the astonished driver could recover his senses, a husky voice said:

"Move, if you dare, and I will put a hole through you before you can bat your eye."

With the agility and dexterity of a professional athlete a stout young fellow grabbed him and stripped the money bag over his head. MORE TRAINS WANTED.

Better Accommodations Desired to Suburban Points.

The Central railroad's suburban train goes out crowded every evening, and comes in crowded every morning. Superintendent Mc-Bee made a mistake in taking off some of these trains. A train every hour between East Point and Atlanta, and every two hours between Hapeville and Atlanta, would soon be one of the best paying trains on the road It would have to be run strictly on schedule time, so that passengers could meet it at the way stations and not be delayed. On account of the open cars a great many going to Wes End and the barracks go by the Central subur ban, but they grumble about the irregular schedules, and about the few trains.

A NEGRO THIEF

Arrested in Griffin and Brought to This City for Larceny.

John Chapman, a negro boy, is in the sta-tion house awaiting trial for stealing a pair of seven-dollar shoes from J. C. & I. Daniels, on Whitehall street, and a fine overcoat from one of the salesmen in the same house.

Chapman had been employed in the house, but a few days ago suddenly disappeared. One of the clerks in the store missed his overcoat about the time the negro left. He was satisfied that Chapman had it and went to work to find out where he had gone. He was located in Griffin. The worns was says work to find out where he had gone. He was located in Griffin. THE MEETING AT THE KIMBALL HOUSE

Request Him to Stay and He Consents. The Registration Still Going On, but It Is Slow.

The registration books close next Wednesday, the 25th instant.

The books are in the hands of City Tax Collector C. K. Maddox, in the city hall, and those who have not registered should do so extenses.

To register you must have lived twelve months in the state, six months in the county and ten days in the city. You must have paid all taxes, except for this year, since 1877. These include poll taxes to the state and property taxes to the state, county and city.

Judge Hopkins will remain at the head of the city executive committee. And the splendid influence of his name will be given to the cause of the people. This, the first official act of the new citizens' executive committee, is an omen of the good

Mr. P. J. Moran urged the committee to in-sist upon the retention of the chairmanship by Judge Hopkins. He suggested that the elec tion of a vice chairman-Mr. Cabaniss, for instance—to take the laborious detail work off Judge Hopkins's shoulders, would obviate all difficulties. He offerred the following preamble and resolutions, which were nanimously adopted:

Hopkins should continue in service. Resolved, That in order to relieve Judge Hopkins of the arduous physical labor of the campaign we proceed to elect a vice chairman, who shall serve during the absence of the chairman.

Upon motion of Mr. Moran, Mr. Henry H.

Cabaniss was then elected vice chairman, and upon motion of Mr. Cooper, Mr. Thomas L. Bishop was called to the secretary's desk. Messrs, Moran, Cooper and O'Neill were appointed to secure Judge Hopkins's consent to ontinue to serve. The committee then went into a discussion of the campaign work ahead, participated in by the chairman and Messrs. Falvey, Hirsch, Cooper, O'Neill and others; after which ade journment was had, the committee to meet upon call of the chairman.

When Judge Hopkins was informed of the ction of the committee, he replied:
"I cannot refuse such an appeal as that. I am out of politics, but, when the people call on me so unitedly, I cannot refuse to serve them. Yes, I will continue to serve." The Registration Going On. Only 229 voters qualified yesterday. One hundred and fifty-six were whites, And seventy-three were colored.

During the morning hours the registration was quite lively. From 11 o'clock till 1 the registrar and his assistants had about all they could do, but during the afternoon the work vas slow that it became tiresome The heaviest registration was in the sixth

"If it was not for the money there is in it," Pledger declared, "you could elect Dan Franklin to the council."

The audience went into violent hysterics at this, and Dan Franklin, a sable brother of about fity, arose from his seat, and with head erect and indignation depicted on every feature, walked from the room. The audience yelled louder yet.

"I just referred to Franklin," Pledger explained, "because he used to train with Murphey in Barnesville!"

Loud cries of "Amen," "Go it, Bill," "Tell it, we know you know it," and "Aint it de trufe!" greeted almost every sentence of Pledger's speech.

The next speaker was Jackson McHenry.

The next speaker was Jackson McHenry. His oration was earnest, unique and original. He never took a drink of liquor in his life, but did not believe the real issue was barrooms in this election, but offices.

He gave Sam Jones and Sam Small some hard licks, and wound up by making a national political speech, favoring Harrison for president, and John Sherman for senator in Ohio.

The scene at this juncture was indescribable. Everybody rose to their feet and yelled, but above the noise the loud raps of the chairman's cane and the cries of "Schell" could be heard. "I believe the citizens' movement right; I think it best for the city, and therefore desire its success. That I was chairman of the committee of one hundred does not make me in any sense a representative of it. It has no representative; it is the people. I am for peace, harmony and resolute work for Atlanta. I have never known in Atlanta greater need of united effort, on the part of her people, than now. Her marvelous growth has been such as to require miles upon miles of paved streets, sidewalks and sewers, and a new supply of water is imperatively demanded. These public works have to be carried on and accomplished. They have become necessities. The burthen imposed by them on the people will be great. All things point to a trial period in our history. We are putting off the old and putting on the new. It comes upon us at an unpropitious time. We are but just emerging from a time of great general depression. Atlanta has felt it sorely. G. Saloshin Arrested on the Charge of Receiving Stolen Goods.

HIS PLACE WAS CLOSELY SEARCHED.

an Organized Band of Thieves in Atlant with a Membership of Fifty-Slick and Systematic Stealing Done by Them.

Gustave Saloshin, who keeps a pawnshop or

For a number of years Saloshin has kept a awnbroker's shop on Peachtree, and has co ducted an uncertain kind of "how-much-doprofitably. During his career of helping out the boys for a few days, he has been in trouble two or three times, but the evidence against him has never been strong before, so say the

Yesterday Saloshin was arrested for receiving and concealing stolen goods. For several days a series of suspicious circumstances have been shadowing his business methods. The detectives have kept a close watch on his shop, and yesterday secured sufficient evidence to warrant them in taking possession of the place.

For about six weeks the description book at police headquarters has been filled at the rate of a page a day, and sometimes two pages, with descriptions of stolen overcoats, watche canes, rings, pins, etc. When the exposition was over there was no decrease in this character of thefts. Captain Couch became con vinced that the thieves lived in the city, and were organized and doing a permanent and systematic business.

Having reached this conclusion the detec tives were instructed to pay special attention to this particular class of depredations, and, if possible, run in the thieves. Carrying ou these instructions, three or four of the best city detectives have patrolled Decatur and other streets where suspicious characters congregate night after night. One by one they would pick up a negro with a piece of stolen clothing or jewelry and lock him up. Close observation revealed the fact that these thieves were well acquainted with each other, and that there was much in common between them that could not be satisfactorily explained

Captain Couch became thore vinced that a gang of organized thieves was working the city and those he had in prison were all members of the band. He began to question the prisoners, and link by link a chain of evidence was molded that led to the arrest of nine negro thieves at one haul. The pris oners were questioned separately, and from their combined story Captain Couch learned that his suspicions were correct. He learned also that the band has a head or leader who belongs to the Caucasian rather than the African race. But who the mysterious individual or individuals are that engineer the jobs is information that the detectives badly

The detectives went to Saloshin's and demanded the stolen revolver, but Saloshin denied having it. They left, but told him they knew he had the revolver, and that they intended to have it. Saloshin got scared, and in a few minutes turned up at police headquarters and produced the revolver. Further questioning of the prisoners led the detectives to believe that Saloshin had other stolen articles at his place. About 1 o'clock the officers took possession of the place, and loaded about twenty over coats and all kinds of pistols, watches and jewelry in the patrol wagon and took the the station house where they are now held for identification. Saloshin was arrested and locked up, but gave bond for his appearance and was released. The thieves were committed to jail. A valuable ring gotten from Saloshin's shop was identified last night by Miss Guthman as her sister's wedding ring, bought in Berlin, Miss Bigby at Home to Her Many Friends.

AN EVENING OF RARE PLEASURE

At Judge Bigby's Home on Washington Street-The Polhill-Van Hoose Wedding-Society Notes.

The reception which formally ushered Miss Louise Bigby into society was a surpassingly brilliant and delightful one. It occurred yesterday afternoon from 4 to 7 o'clock, and was completed in the "wee sma" o'clock, and was completed in the "wee sma' hours" by a beautiful cotillion.

The mansion of Judge and Mrs. Bigby, on Washington street, is one of the most spacious and elegant in the city, and the beautiful drawing rooms were enhanced by many flowers and brilliant lights.

The hallway was decorated with pink roses and chrysanthemums, while the archways were draped in pink silk, caught with roses.

The drawing rooms on either side extended the length of the house, and the one on the right was entirely adorned in white and green. The alcoves were banked with tropical palms and ferns, against which showed many clusters of bride roses. The mantel was banked in bride roses, and the white draperies about arches and mirrors were caught with fern sprays and white blossoms.

Against a bank by this white and green loveliness, Miss Bigby stood, a sparkling, enchanting figure in purest white. The gold-brown masses of her wavy hair were arranged high on her perfect, exquisitely poised head, and her sapphire eyes shown like stars in her face, whose every feature was full of brilliant and ever varying expressions.

SCHAEFER 1,200+--IVES 1,131.

The Champion Made Long Runs Last Night and Won. To no one's especial surprise Jake Schaefer made some big runs last night and won the 1,200-point balk-line contest.

Frank Ives started in last night with 800 to 610 for the champion. Ives made 331 and the wizard 590. Ives made one fine run of 144, but twice he failed to count at all, while Schaefer made a fine average. His first run was 193, the feature balls keeping them in almost the some position for 25 points. In his twelfth inning he ran 102, which put him nearly out. Schaefer's average for the night was 40, which is away average for the night was 40, which is away above the average for balk-line games.

The score last night was:

I ves (unfinished inning, 36)—1, 7, 20, 24, 144, 2, 29, 2, 0, 20, 24, 20, 20. Total, 331.

Schaefer—193, 6, 36, 67, 76, 25, 25, 30, 3, 0, 7, 102, 4, 2, 14. Total, 590.

In the two-hundred-point straight-rail game, which preceded the balk-line contest, the score was:

Ives -0, 6, 6, 6, 3. Total, 15.
Schaefer -6, 15, 23, 70, 86. Total, 200.
At the close of the balk-line game, both players gave an exhibition of fancy shots. Many of their plays are more that simply puzzling, they seemed impossible.
Schaefer plays with the greatest ease and grace, which is to be expected. He is a remarkable genius with the cue. He calculates angles at a glance, or seems to know them by instinct.

Ives is a wonderful player himself for his years and experience, which have been brief. He gives promise of some day being champion himself.
Mr. Charles Parker, the manager, received a telegram last night making an offer for the players to go to Athens. They are due in Kansas City early next week, and could not accept. They leave Atlanta this morning for Chicago.

JACK AND JILL -There are various man got into the moon. A common one with us is that he was banished for having been detected by Moses in the act of gathering sticks on the Sabbath. In German legend he committed; the same offense, and was given the alternative of being scorched in the sun or frozen in the moon. In Icelandic myth the man becomes the two children familiarly known as Jack and Jill, who were kidnaped by the moon. There we see them stand with bucket or pole across their shoulders, falling away, one after the other, as the moon wanes. And so it is that

"Jack fell down and broke his crown, And Jill came tumbling after."

Now, just as sure as the moon wanes, just so sure does disease wane under the influence of S. S. S. The difference being, however, that Jack and Jill never go up the hill any more in the latter case, the eradication of disease by this medicine being complete and Treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed free

R. R. CLUB MEN MEET

A Profitable Convention Held at the Kimball Yesterday.

ATLANTA TO BE HEADQUARTERS.

The Organization Decided to Hold Its Quarterly Meetings in This City the Coming Year.

The Southern and Southwestern Railway Club held a regular quarterly meeting at the Kimball house yesterday. Forty members were present from all over the south and southwest.

Captain R. D. Wade, the Richmond and Danville's superintendent of motive power, is the club's president, and he was in the chair. The secretaryship being vacant by resigna-tion, Mr. S. A. Charpiot, of Macon, was elected.

One of the most important pieces of business transacted was fixing the number meetings at four per year and choosing At-lanta as the meeting place for the coming year. The meetings will be held at the Kimball on the third Thursday in January, April,

August and November.
Second Vice President James Mechan read an interesting paper on uniformity in record sheets for locomotives. He took the position that a uni-form sheet, showing the work of each ocomotive, the life of its parts, the cost of oil and fuel and labor, would enable the roads to get an average which would prove of great benefit. Whether a uniform sheet is practi cable or not is another question, but Mr. Meehan suggested that the attempt to one up should be made. Messrs. Leeds, Meehan and Roberts gave interesting and valuable information, chiefly on the subject of lubricants. The secretary was instructed to collect the record forms now used by the different roads so that a uniform sheet nay be compiled.

The committee on the location of a general plant for repairs, was not ready to report, and was given further time. Mr. Thomas is chair-

Messrs. A. W. Gibbes, R. E. Libbey and Secretary Charpiot were appointed a committee to arrange for the publication of the club's proceedings, and they were authorized to select another member from the local journalists. On motion of Messrs. Meehan and Leeds,

Mr. Edmund E. Tyler, general manager of the Atlanta and West Point, was elected an hon-orary member.

The following questions were selected for orary member.

The following questions were selected for discussion at the next meeting:

The most suitable type and model of hanging inside brakes in freight car trucks.

The best practice of setting flues, and the proper treatment to prevent leaking.

The best sizes and shapes and modes of fastening draft timbers.

This meeting was a highly profitable one. Among those present were:

R. D. Wade, president; P. Leeds, first vice president; James Meehan, S. H. Charplot, secretary, Macon; William H. Thomas, superintendent motive power, East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia; James Cullen, Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis; E. M. Roberts, South Carolina railway; J. S. Patterson, Cincinnati; C. B. Gifford, Birmingham; W. A. Walden, M. M., Richmond and Danville; E. Huden, M. M., East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia; I. McPhail, Georgia; Midland and Gulf; W. A. Stone, M. A. Ross, F. H. TOBACCO CULTURE

Will Be Discussed in Georgia-Captain Sno Going Through the State.

Captain W. H. Snow, a famous tobacco grower of North Carolina, and the inventor of the wonderful Snow process of raising and curing tobacco, is in Atlanta.

He is making quite a tour of Georgia with a view of meeting the farmers of the state who are interested in the culture of the weed, he having received invitations from nearly all.

There appears to be a determined disposition on the part of hundreds of farmers all over the state to grow tobacco next year, and the visit of such an authority as Captain Snow will tend to stimulate the matter.

will tend to stimulate the matter.

The low price of cotton is very discouraging.
Tobacco will beat it all hollow, and the farmers are now finding it out.

Captain Snow is accompanied by Mr. D. G.
Devenish, of Oxford, N. C., who is secretary and treasurer of the Modern Tobacco Barn Company. They will visit Fort Valley, Macon, Titton, Vienna, Valdosta, Quitman, Whigham, Bainbridge, Waycross and other points.

SERVANTS' HOUSE BURNED.

But for the Prompt Work of the Firemen, It Would Have Been a Disastrous Fire.

A small two-room servants' house in the rear of Mr. Prim's residence at 172 Rawson street was destroyed by fire about 9 o'clock last night.

The servants were all away, and there was no one in the house when it caught fire. The origin of the fire is somewhat of a mystery. The alarm was turned in as soon as the fire was discovered, and the fire department's prompt response and fauthful work saved Mr. Prim's residence and probably a number of other dwellings in the neighborhood.

At the R. R. Y. M. C. A.

Last night at the railroad men's hall, 36½ South Broad street, Rev. J. A. Clifton, of Greenville, S. C., delivered an interesting lecture on "The Possibilities of a Young Man."

Dr. Clifton is a rapid, fluent speaker of commanding appearance, genial, open countenance that wins at once to him. He introduced his lecture with some witty remarks which lead on to the more serious discussion of the subject in hand. His remarks upon "success" and upon "influence" were beautiful and striking. His he rers hung upon the words as they fell from his lips, contrasting the failure and successes of this world with the felicities of the future world. All too soon he closed his lecture when the young men crowded round him thanking him for his instructive entertainment.

Dr. Clifton is a kinsman of Rev. Mr. Belk, whom he much resembles in appearance. He will lecture at Payne's chapel tonight on the subject of "The True Object of Education."

On Thursday night, Thanksgiving, there will be a thansgiving entertainment for members only with their ladies.

During September a new jewelry firm opened their doors to the people of Atlanta and the

Their handsome signs bear the name of A. I. Delkin & Co., and somehow there is something familiar about this name—it sounds Mr. Delkin has been in the jewelry business for years. He was originally in the manufacturing business exclusively, and many Atlan-tians know full well the skill and the marked talent which he possesses as a designer and engraver.

Later he was engaged in the manufacturing and wholesale and retail fewelry business for a number of years only a few doors from the stand where he is now located. He sold out his interest and for a year engaged in real estate traffic, during which time his health greatly improved.

Again he has returned to his first love, and his whole soul is now engaged in building up what promises to be one of the largest manufacturing, wholesale and retail jewelry concerns in Georgia.

It may seem strange to some, but it is nevertheless true—Messrs. A. L. Delkin & Co., have done an immense business during the last two months and their trade is growing rapidly.

They statted with every advantage and they possess superior advantages in every way.

They understand the jewelry business thorway.

They understand the jewelry business thoroughly. They know the people and the people know them. Their store is large and handsome and there is no better location in the city.

They have a very large stock of the finest goods. In diamonds, watches, silverware and novelties of every sort their stock is just simply grand. You know everything is new; everything is stylish and beautiful, and above all and over all, and best of all, A. L. Delkin & Co. are not high-priced jeweiers, but to the contrary, they sell low—just as low as honest goods can be sold anywhere, and as low as honest people want to buy them.

subject to the Canonical Consent of the Church.

ND WILL BE BISHOP OF GEORGIA.

The Committee Wires the Good News from Rector Nelson's Home-The Committee Will Return Today.

Rev. Cleland Kinloch Nelson answers Georgia's call.

The distinguished divine will be bishop of Georgia. He gave an affirmative answer to committee of this diocese at his home South Bethlehem yesterday.

Of course his acceptance is conditional upon the approval of the church at large, and, equally of course, there is no doubt of that approval being given.

Yesterday morning Rev. W. C. Hunter and Colonel Z. D. Harrison, representing the diocese of Georgia, reached South Bethlehem, Pa., and almost immediately went to the home of Rev. Dr. Nelson, and there made the official tender of the bishopric of

Z. D. HARRISON. The receipt of the news in Atlanta yes day afternoon was the signal for great ejoicing among the members of the Episcopal church. The members of the Atlanta churches are enthusiastic in their support of Dr. Nelson, about whom they have heard so many favorable things, and throughout the diocese the same feeling prevailed. Then there is general rejoicing that the uncertainty is at an end and that Georgia has a bishop a worthy successor of the distinguished Elliott and the distinguished Beckwith.

A Cordial Welcome Awaits Him. "You may be sure," said Major T. E. Walker, talking of the good news he had just received, "that Bishop Nelson will eceive a cordial welcome and loyal support from the entire church of the diocese. We believe we have made a most excelent selection-that Dr. Nelson is just the man for us. You may be sure, too, that no minister or no member of the church will give the new bishop a more loyal upport or a more hearty welcome than Rev. Chauncey C. Williams." Autograph Letters from Dr. Nelson. A number of friends of Dr. Nelson, memes of the church and others, who have written Dr. Nelson words of congratulation upon his election to the bishopric, have eceived autograph letters from the distinguished divine, which they will doubtless preserve. Dr. Nelson has taken the pains n each instance to write personal letters n reply to the words of congratulation and everal of these were proudly shown in Atlauta yesterday.

As to Canonical Consent. The "canonical consent," referred to in Colonel Harrison's telegram, is the formal endorsement of the selection of the diocese by the church at large. This is given by the standing committees of the dioceses and by the house of bishops. The approval of the standing committees of a majority of the dioceses and of a majority the house of bishops is necessary before the bishop-elect can be ordained.

There is, of course, no doubt of this en-dorsement being obtained just as soon as possible in the natural order of things. It is estimated that this will require about two

A Lady's Fine Gold Watch Found on a Suspicious Negro.

Chief Detective Couch has in his possession a very valuable and handsome gold watch which he would like to turn over to the owner. He captured it from a negro woman who gives her name as Hattie Weatherspoon, and claims to be from Jacksonville, Fla. She said that she originally lived in Waycross and Elsie, Ga. She turned up in the city two or three days ago wearing the watch and cut quite a swell in 'ciety.

Yesterday she needed some cash, and went out to sell the pretty timekeeper. She set no particular price on it, but was entertaining offers. Somebody told the detectives about the affair, and they went to see about it. They were soon convinced that the watch was stolen, and arrosted the woman and locked her up. She claimed that she has just come to Atlanta from Jacksonville, Fla., and that she bought the watch there.

The watch is a plain pattern, but of the finest material. On the inside of the back cover this engraving appears: "Monroe Carrgle from Mamie. 1890."

are adepts in blowing safes. As the cold weather set in, they migrated outhward, and fistened upon Atlanta as a promising field for their exploits of aggrandise nent. Just how many crooks are in the party is not positively known, but it is believed there are at least five of them.

They are professionals, and are dressed in stylish attire. It is a part of their well-laid plans to palm themselves off as gentlemen, nd they are lavish in spending money. The average citizen would never for a moment sus-pect them, but the keen-eyed and experienced detectives can spot them at a glance. There is a give-away look in their faces, and their very suavity arouses suspicion.

Eearly yesterday these predatory tourists were astir. One of Atlanta's most astute detectives caught on to their movements, and, with the assistance of several officers, shadowed them all day long.

They, that is three of them, casually strolled into a Whitehall street jewelry store and care lessly priced diamond rings, and other valuable . While one was inspecting the goods another was walking about the establishment making mental photographs of various interior views, noting where the safe was situated, where the trays of diamonds were kept, how the show cases were arranged and the general lay of the place. His other accomplice all the while was studying the fastenings of the doors

After spending a considerable time in the store without making any purchases, the trio of crooks left the place leisurely and repaired Another part of the gang operated elsewhere, Another part of the gang operated eisewhere, and in a somewhat different way.

They went into Blue's jewelry establishment.
One of the party said he was an expert engraver, and was seeking employment. While he was engaging the proprietor's attention, one of his pals wandered back toward the safe and with his very tit to according into how it was cut his eye at it to ascertain just how it was Delkin's place was likewise visited, and the same programme gone through. It is suspected that the ring-leader of the gang is Oliver Harris Curtis, for whose arrest a reward of $1,000 is offered.

They visited in turn nearly every jewelry store in Atlanta and did not neglect the banks. In the latter their stay, however, was very short, but long enough for them to see where the vault was located and how the windows and door were featured. and doors were fastened.

Their conduct was so natural as not to arouse suspicion, and the affable clerks in the jewelry res regarded them as very promising cus omers. The alert detectives, however, were not de-

The alert detectives, nowever, were not uc-ceived. They were as adroit as the men they were shadowing. No overt act was done, so the officers could not bag their game. All they could do was to watch. The Grady monument has orna-mented that portion of the thoroughfare, and the merchants don't care to see these public

THEY ARE INDIGNANT.

Residents on Whitehall Street Will Meet Tonight

TO PREPARE FOR A FIGHT IN THE COURTS

The Council Granted Their Request and the Aldermanic Board Killed the Action. They Are Anything but Delighted.

The residents of Whitehall street are indignant. The meeting of the board of aldermen on Wednesday has stirred up a tempest on that thoroughfare.

The people think they have been unjustly treated, and intend battling for their rights.

It's all over the paving completed on that street about a month and a haif ago. Some time after it was done the citizens met to consider what it was best to do in regard to hav-ing some reduction made from the assessment for the laving of the belgian blocks.

They had paid their full pro rata share for the macadam laid eight years before, and that was all right and in good condition until the Consolidated Street Car Company tore up the street in laying the recent double tracks.

Then the thoroughfare was made uneven and almost impassable, and it was necessary to belgian block it. The rocks were hauled away, which the residents paid for, the paying done and a bill sent in to each property owner calling for the assessment in full.

The citizens wanted some consideration for the rocks that were carried off, and met to discuss the matter. It was decided to petition the council, and they did so. The members heard the grievance of the Whitehall residents and on Monday passed a resolution of Dr. Turner's granting them 25 cents a yard for the rocks which had been removed.

But the board of aldermen considered that a bad precedent and even illegal, and on Wednesday killed it.

The citizens of Whitehall propose to see if it is illegal and are far from dismissing the matter. They couldn't get what they regard as a just petition granted by the council, and now they intend tighting for their rights in the courts.

Tonight the residents will turn out en masse and hold a meeting to arrange their plans. The whole matter has been discussed at length by them and the only thing remaining is to prepare for their legal skirmish with the city. The best of counsel is to be procured and thing will be left undone to protect their

'The amount at stake for each of us," said one of the property owners yesterday, "is not so large but that we could easily afford to pay our assessments. But it's the principle involved. We all think that it is a gross piece of injustice on the part of the city in assessing us in full, and we will not rest content with it. "We thought!" continued the weatleman.

"We thought," continued the gentleman, "that when the entire council passed a resolution granting our request, that the matter was disposed of for all time, and the action of the board of alderinen was a big surprise to us. There may be other occasions in the future for us to assert our dissatisfaction, and we might as well left the cite know my that we might as well let the city know now that we will not tolerate what all of us regard as appear in McCullough's famous trageny of "Spartacus," which was bought by Mr. MacLean after the death of that great tragedian.

Mr. MacLean is the physical ideal of the part, superior in this respect to his distinguished predecessors, and many old acquaintances of Forrest and McCullough deciare he is their equal in the artistic requirements of the character, and his stentorian enunciation of the famous line, "I'll make Rome howl," is said to shake the very rafters and the gods below. With a strong, rich and musical voice, and an educated appreciation of his work, he imparts to the virtue role a dignity and vigor that command sincere admiration. In the dearth of really good play presentation for the delectation of the million, R. D. MacLean and Marie Prescott are to be commended for filling an important and almost unique position in providing a standard reportiore that can be changed at every performance if the management is so disposed. Mr. M. c. Lean is working his way to the front through preservance and the intelligent direction of good native powers, assisted not a little by a fine, commanding figure. Miss Prescott is a thoroughly experienced and gifted actress, having a superior order of mind, and a clear understanding of her art. Their support this season is good, and their plays are staged and costumed with care and liberality.

The Kansas City Journal of October 6th said of MacLean's personation of Spartacus:

"He was enthusiastically received by the audience. He has a physique well adapted to heroic roles and his powers of interpreting character are at their best within the lines of the part made notable by such artists as Forrest and McCullough. In expressing hate, anger, the savage feelings of a strong, fierce, untamed and uneducated human, to whom a strong and true attachment to wife and home is still possible, he is seen at his best. His powerfal voice, like his magnificent frame and well knit muscles, are admirable aids in presenting such a character. In the arena scene he is simply magnificent."

"Mr. Barnes of New York" will be produced at the opera house next Monday and Tuesday, No-vember 23d and 24th.

Among the many writers of books and plays who have added so prolifically to the literature of the present day, Mr. Archibald Clavering Gunter stands among the leaders. "Mr. Barnes of New York" quickly outstripped all competitors for public approval, and few novels with an American imprint have been published which contained the dramatic qualities of Mr. Gunter's contained the dramatic qualities of Mr. Gunter's first novel. Its stage reproduction was readily surmised, and Mr. Gunter, in his adaptation of the story, has given to the theater-goers a comedy quite as pleasing as was its prototype to the readers of current literature. "Mr. Barnes, of New York," is even more Americanized in the play, which is a pleasant feature. Elaborate scenery will be furnished, and costmes of-fering m my happy contrasts will be new, which will freshen up an already crisp and exhilerating comedy drama. The company presenting the play will be practically the same as that which characterized former productions. The cast will be as follows:

THE NEW YORK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, November 19.—The stock market today was very dull throughout the greater portion of the day. The news of the day was uniformly of an encouraging nature, and reports from the west in regard to the enormous amount of freight now being moved, vere supplemented by a better character of advices n abroad. These influences, however, failed to stimulate either buying or selling. Better feeling existed on the Richmond and West Point affair, and, existed on the Richmond and West Point affair, and, notwithstanding the belief in some quarters that a reorganization will be necessary, the securities of the company have shown a disposition to advance for some time. They had no cause, however, to have any material influence upon the general market, and their fluctuations passed without causing any movement in other stocks. Industrials, and especially sugar and Chicago gas, were prominent specialties today, and sugar responded to a rise in price of refined sugar, and a reiteration of the rumors of an increase in dividend by the rise of 3 per cent. The improvement in others was more moderate, however. Richmond in others was more moderate, however. Richmond and West Point preferred after opening down 1 per cent, at 50, recovered its loss, and then retired 2 per cent, cent, at 50, recovered its lors, and then retired 2 per cent, only to close at its first price. In the last hour bears attacked everything, and especially Northern Pacific preferred, Atchison, Reading and Lackawanna, and while the first named retired 1 per cent, and sugar reacted 1½ per cent, an effort to recover short sales in the last few minutes' trading resulted in a sharp rally, which brought sugar within ½ per cent of its best figure and caused a material upward movement in the rest of the list. some orders to buy stocks at certain limits, but as these limits were not reached the amount of their purchases was very small.

The news from abroad was of a more reassuring character, and we think, if nothing happens, Europe will come in a good buyer, as the traders over there are short of Americans. The market was strong until about 2 o'clock, when the bears resumed operations again. The Northern Pacific company declared their regular I per cent dividend, and this had the effect of strengthening the price of the stock somewhat, but in the last hour this stock was made the point of attack, and under sales of short stock the prices declined about I per cent. The rest of the market also sold off a fraction in sympathy. The strong short in today's market was sagar, which advanced sharply on the report that a large dividend will be declared on the common, and, as far as we can learn, the report is well founded. The general market was very dull and uninteresting, and closes about the same.

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular

NEW YORK, November 19-[Special.]-On the open-ing this morning Liverpool was 1-64d lower, but this NEW YORK, November 19—[Special.]—On the opening this morning Liverpool was 1-6id lower, but this was the only recognition given of the apathetic attitude that our market yesterday assumed toward the manifest tendency toward improvement shown by the foreign markets. After the opening prices in Liverpool steadily improved, closing firm at a net improvement over yesterday of 3-6id. Spot sales today were 12,600 bales, and after the close yesterday 2,000 bales, making 14,000 bales in all that have passed into consumers hands. As usual the advance abroad was met by an effort on the part of the New York bears to depress prices, but the power of absorption was such as to surprise them, and prices advanced some 13cell points by 11 o'clock. A reaction tollowed upon the receipt of advices of heavy receipts at New Orleans tomorrow and a rumor that Mr. Neill had again raised his minimum crop estimate to 8,200,000 bales. Fortunately for holders of cotton, however, crop estimates cannot be put into cloth, and the suggestion that a bias of speculative interest may perhaps affect the figures named led to some covering on the part of early sellers here, and at 2 o'clock prices are within 2 points of the highest. The Bombay movement, as made up today, shows a deficiency of 11,000 bales in receipts and 327,000 bales in shipments since January 1. After 2 o'clock the market continued to gain in strength, closing finally firm at the highest of the day and 13 points above last evening's figures. Receipts, especially at the Adhantic points, are 1 andly as larke de expected, and the interior movement, especially Augusta and Memphis, is considerably less than last year. Any failing off in receipts will give cumulative iore to the buying power and bull feeling of which today's market gives evidence.

Lehman Bros.' Cotton Letter.

Lehman Bros.' Cotton Letter. By private wire to Youngblood & Hass, NEW YORK, November 19-Notwith

of about $69 points for the dsy, Liverpool this morning again showed great strength, and instead of an expected decline was 1-64d higher, subsequently advancing a further 2-64d. This news stimulated our market here and resulted in an advance of 12@13 points, of which 567 points were again lost when the port receipts were posted and showed a movement equal to about last year's and only slightly under the corresponding day last week. The market then held steady until shortly before the close when, on the reported sponding day last week. The market then held steady until shortly before the close when, on the reported strength of the southern market and larger spot sales, it took another upward movement, closing at the highest prices of the day. The spot sales at New Orleans, Galveston and Savannah slone aggregate 24,000 bales. The position of our market at the moment seems a strong one, the chances being in favor of higher prices, though of course the main factor in the position is the receipts, which must continue to govern values, and which, if liberal, we believe will prevent any permanent improvement. Should, on the other hand, the most cannot show any failing off the temper of the market is such as to quickly respond. An Increased Yield.

An Increased Yield.

A prominent gentleman in Atlanta, who was formerly a planter in Louisiana, is on a visit to his old home. He writes a private letter that Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana, in his estimation, will make, 200,000 bales of cotton more than last year; that he was on two-plantations near Shreveport the day he wrote and that the crop on these plantations is double what it was last year. He thinks the receipts will keep up until about Christmes.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, November 18.—The wheat market was de-moralized today over the effects of yesterday's false re-port announcing the promulgation of the Russian edict prohibiting the exportation of wheat. Business was very light, there being a general disinclination to buy ount of the unsettled and somewhat timid feel on account of the unsettled and somewhat timid feeling which prevailed. The market was weaker and prices lower all around. The opening was $160 % lower and, after wide fluctuations, the close was about 20 lower than yesterday.

Corn was weak at the start, but later developed considerable strength on demand from shippers. November opened at 52c and closed at 53c. Other months also show good advances.

Onts were extremely dull and void of interest. Prices were confined within the range of 14@36c. The provision market opened weak and closed at onsiderably lower prices than yesterday, but, in case of December pork at some slight recovery from the owest price of the day. The enormous receipts of hog was the depressing influence, and was not lessened of its effect by any reticence on the part of short sellers in dilating upon it. Lard was down 10e and ribs 5c. Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter. By Private Wire to Youngblood & Haas.

By Private Wire to Youngblood & Haas.

CHICAGO, November 19.—The past two days have not been very enjournaging for wheat speculators. The bears were frightened yesterday on the higher cables and talk of the Russian prohibitory ukase. Today the holders are completely demoralized at the decline in the English market, and selling by houses having foreign connections are said to be for English account. The large receipts and lack of sufficient clearances we think the grincipal cause for the decline. The first of December is not very far off, and holders will either have to pay for the wheat or change into May at a have to pay for the wheat or change into May at a large premium. This is unfortunate for parties, who invested hoping for higher prices.

invested hoping for higher prices.

The receipts of corn are dropping off somewhat, cash and near futures being strong and higher.

Outs demand good prices, and are firm.

The packing of hogs in the west the past week was nearly equal to that of one year ago. There seems to be rather a good demand for December pork, and prices were well maintained, considering the large receipts and the weakness of the more deferred futures. How long these receipts are going to keep up is a serious question with speculators who have bought expecting an advance. Evidently there are too many hogs for the prices just at present.

Gossip of Interest to the Devotees of the Divine Art.

As told in yesterday's Constitution, Mr. Alfredo Barili intends going to Japan. The news surprised his Atianta friends, who can not divine his purpose in thus expatriating himself. It seems that Alfredo inherits some of the idiosyncrasies of his father, Ettore Barili, for whom Verdi created the part of Rigoletto in his famous opera by that name. The Barili family for the last hundred years has been prominent in music. There have been at least a dozen noted singers bearing that name. When only fifteen years old Alfredo was widely known as a pianist. He was a pupil of the great Ferdinand Hiller and played his concerto as few pianists can play it. Mrs. Barili also comes of a distinguished family. She is the daughter of Dr. Vizin. One of her brothers is an eminent painter in London. In one of his recent piano recitals Joseph Hart Denck played Barili's "Cradle Song," and tears came to the eyes of many ladies in the hall. It is said Mr. Barili has a br.lliant polonaise in the hands of his publishers, which will soon be brought out.

The irrst important musical event of the season will be the concert of the New York Symphony Club, the night of the 28th of this month, in the amusement hall of the Young Men's Christian Association. The company is one of high repute, and the entertainment it will give will be excellent in all regards. This will be the first concert of the star course.

regards. This will be the first concert of the star course.

Early in December, the exact date has not yet been fixed, the residents of Atlanta will be permitted to hear in grand concert Fiorence Keep, one of the greatest living dramatic sopranos. The concert will probably be given in the new hall of the Young Men's Christian Association. Musical Atlanta is impatient to hear this singer who has thrilled the largest audiences in Milan and Fiorence, in Paris and London and New York. The details of this entertainment will be announced in a few days.

The last regular meeting of the Atlanta Choral Society was attended by many ladies and gentlemen, and Director Burbank smiled as he faced them, baton in hand. Parts of "The Messiah" were practiced for several hours, the singers entering with enthusiasm into the work. Improvement was noticeable, and the conductor expressed his satisfaction at the rapid and sure progress made. His rethe rapid and sure progress made. His remarks touching choral singing, and his method of training choruses, and his explanatory words regarding the beauties of this great oratorio were apposite, and elicited the applause of the members of the society. Hereafter the meetings for practice will take place fter, the meetings for practice will take place oratorio were apposite, and elicited the applause of the members of the society. Hereafter, the meetings for practice will take place in the society's hall every Tuesday night, at 7:30 o'clock.

The distinguished bass singer, Mr. L. LeClair, for several years a member of the Boston Ideal Opera Company, and for the past six months a resident of Atlanta, has gone to Boston on a three weeks' visit.

Next Monday there will be a full rehearsal of "The Pirates of Penzance" under Director Simpson's baton. All the ladies and gentlemen are requested to be prompt. President Joe Hirsch, of the Grady hospital, will be present to confer with Mr. Simpson about the details of the performance, which, it is expected, will take place early in January. The proceeds of the three entertainments it is proposed to give will be turned over to the Grady hospital. It is calculated that at least $2,000 will be raised in this way. The members of the chorus and those who are to sing solos, duets, trios and quartets are in love with the tuneful music of the opera. They are brimful of enchusiasm, and are determined that the representation of this favorite work of Gilbert and Sullivan shall eclipse any professional rendering of the opera ever attempted in Atlanta. In the cast are many of Atlanta's brightest and prettiest society young ladies. Mr. Simpson has already demonstrated his ability as a conductor. He is devoting much of his time to this work and is doing it con amore. The Opera Club appreciates his unselfish labors in behalf of a noble charity. The Atlanta Male Chorus met last night and devoted two hours to practicing under the direction of Mr. I. M. Mayer. The club is growing every week, and the members show a keen interest in their work. In this organization are most of the leading male singers of Atlanta. Director Mayer contemplates bringing his society before the public early in January.

Owing to the absence from Atlanta of Mr. Oscar Pappenheimer, who is making an ex-tution. Saw three families, ten persons each, almost starving. The population of the infected district is between six and nine hundred Three hundred have been vaccinated recently. Have employed six men temporarily as watchmen and to feed the destitute. One of owing to the absence from Atlanta of Mr.

Oscar Pappenheimer, who is making an extended visit to Cincinnati, the string quartet has suspended its regular meetings, which will be resumed as soon as the 'cellist returns.
The latest hit in the musical line is "A Mi Nino," a cradle song for the piano, which was composed by Mr. Isaac M. Mayer, of Atlanta. It has already had an enormous sale.

PASS A RATHER MEMORABLE NIGHT.

All Agreed That It Was Cold, but How to Warm Themselves Was the Question They Battled With.

The 100 moonshiners confined in Fulton county jail were in a bad fix last night. Their shivering forms and chattering teeth indicated that the thermometer was bobbing around freezing point and that they felt the frigid temperature.

It was due entirely to a lack of forethought on their part, and was their own fault. They had the sincerest sympathy of every one, and yet the matter provoked one of the heartiest laughs that ever resounded in the county

It is customary to wash all the blankets at certain intervals.

Yesterday was the day for the work, and with the hum and hearty good will that characterizes those who love their tasks, the men set about diligently scrubbing their main piece of bed covering.

Then they hung the blankets out in the jail yard and waited for them to dry.

But their grins a short while later were about the only dry things on the premises. When the moonshiners went to collect their blankets they had frozen perfectly stiff, and they could do nothing with them. They all tried their best, and worked anxiously to restore the covering to a normal conon, but it was in vain. It had grown dark and the men gave up the job, and, with an imaginary freeze in every limb, awaited the arrival of the morrow. All night long they wrestled with the numerons chilly sensations that bothered them. The prisoners sought overcoats and every ob-tainable piece of covering, but they found but very little and that didn't begin to go

In the stone jail four fellow prisoners were singing the tune of, "Where is my Wandering Boy Tonight," and the moonshiners insisted that themselves and their missing blankets were alluded to and swore revenge. Then the wind would howl about the wooden structure and there would be the loudest echo imag-

But all things, bed covering excepted, come to him who waits, and soon sleep overpowered the weary wrestlers with old man Fahrenh eit.

A few walked the floor and gained enough except the state of the se to warm them; one or two others tried hard and finally almost annihilated one of the commandments interfering with the liberty of speech.

At an early hour this morning the moonshiners were partly dreaming of visits on an exploring expedition to the north nole; others were listening patiently to the ticking of the clock and the soft tread of the jailers, waiting anxiously for a glimmer of light in the eastern sky.

sky.

It was an unusually tough experience.

Y. M. C. A. ITEMS. What Is Being Done of Interest by Association Workers.

The Ladies' Auxiliary held a large and enthusiastic meeting yesterday afternoon. Several matters of importance to the association received attention, among them the art loan and a concert.

The prevalent impression that the art loan has been abandoned is a mistake. It has only been postponed a few weeks to await the com-pletion of the lecture hall, and when it does occur it will fully realize all that has been simed for it.

But, before arranging for this, the ladies expect to give two other entertainments-a Japanese wedding and a concert. The wedding will be a very unique affair, and will doubtless prove quite an attractive entertainment. Mrs. W. A. Hemphill, Mrs. Charles Kight, Mrs. Dr. Elsom and Mrs. T. S. Lewis were appointed a committee to present the redding pointed a committee to prepare this wedding, which will be neld about December 15th. Meanwhile, a concert will be given, in which there will be a full exhibition of the best local talent. The committee arranging this entertainment—Mrs. James Morgan, Mrs. McCabe and Mrs. George Muse—are now making every effort possible for its success. This concert will be given guite seen.

The next regular meeting of the auxiliary will be held December 4th, when these two entertainments, and further plans for them, will be discussed fully.

The New York Symphony Club, which will give the opening concert at the Young Men's Christian Association hall on the 28th, is meeting with great success all along the line from New York to Atlanta. They give promlse of an excellent concert.

The ladies of the auxiliary are very much

The ladies of the auxiliary are very much interested in the evening to be given the young men soon, entitled "Thanksgiving at Home." Although the ladies will not be present to gladden the occasion, at least in any considerable numbers, yet the young men of Atlanta are assured the ladies have great concern for their pleasure and entertaining there, and, accordingly, they should be present in a body on Thanksgiving night.

night.

Rev. Dr. J. W. Lee will conduct the young men's meeting Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Dr. Lee will make an interesting address to young men at this meeting.

There never was a member of the force of mail carriers who was better known or more highly esteemed, and the faithful Mason was laid to rest with honors. The services were held at Oakland cemetery, and, despite the unpleasant weather, a large number of sorrowing friends were present.

pleasant weather, a large number of sorrowing friends were present.

Eminent Commander Harry C. Stockdell conducted the services according to the Masonic rites. The following Knights Tempiar acted as pallbearers: Messrs. H. M. Robinson, George H. Holliday, A. McDiarmid, John R. Wilkinson, F. M. Fremont, Zach Castleberry and W. B. Wilson.

The burial was in the lot especially set aside for Knights Templar.

THE GEORGIA STATE LOTTERY PROPERTY. 25 VERY VALUABLE LOTS 25

Tuesday, Dec. 1st, 1891, 10 a.m.

On the Premises.

This includes some of the most valuable and desirable property in Atlanta—right in the very heart of the city. Four storehouse, lots front opposite the postoffice and opera house. When the new stieel bridge isjinished on Forsyth street no real estate in Atlanta will be worth more per fruit foot than the property we now offer to the highlight bidder. Now is a most opportune time to buy, for the anadistred fact that Atlanta property enhances in value annually. The substantial brick building on the corner of Forsyth and Walton streets is yielding a handsome income at present. The 21 vacant lots in human Park are shaded with beautiful native caks. Just the place for a gentleman to make an elegant home.

Edgewood avenue runs due east from the center of the city to Imman Park, passing directly through 21 of these lots. On it is the most perfect system of electric cars to be found in the United States and one of the grandest drives in the city. More expensive and handsome buildings are to be seen on this beautiful thoroughlare than upon any line of street leading from the center of Atlanta. One building alone when completed is to cost a cool million doilars. You may never have so favurable an opportunity to buy such property as this again. Then attend the sale and secure your Tuesday, Dec. 1st, 1891, 10 a.m.

lanta. One-building alone when completed is to cost a cool unillon dollars. You may never have so favurable an opportunity to buy such property as this again. Then attend the sale and secure your family a first-class location on a high and healthful ridge where the surroundings are choice and the real estate will continue to enhance for years to come. Every lot will be sold to the highest bidder. Titles indisputable. Terms cash. Remember the Forsyth street lots are in the same block with the Selfzer stores that I sold to eager purchasers at fair prices in 1890, our oldest citizens paying the best prices and securing the lots.
